County's Schools Reopen

New Snow Storm Expected, Weather Forecaster Warns

Second One Ahead

Space Shot Ends With Fiery Death Of Army Pioneer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a second space shot ahead, Army scientists set out today to correct troubles that thwarted their first effort to hurl a tiny package of instruments into orbit around the moon.

At the same time, they rated the experiment a success in measuring the depth of man-poisoning radiation around the earth.

The space probe Pioneer III — first of two assigned to the Army —met its flaming end over North Africa Sunday afternoon.

Fired aloft by a four-stage rocket early Saturday, the 13-pound cone reached an announced peak altitude of 66,654 miles before falling back and burning in the terrific heat generated by atmospheric conditions.

The Army's Pioneer III didn't get as far into space as did the Air Force's best effort Oct. 11. Revised figures showed the Air Force's Pioneer I reached 71,300 miles. Two other Air Force moon rockets failed soon after takeoff from Cape Canaveral, Fla., which also was the site of the Army launching.

The Air Force now has used up all three space probes allotted to it for the present at least. It sought to send a somewhat heavier satellite than the Army's into orbit around the moon, which is some 220,000 miles from the earth.

The Army's intent with Pioneer III was to pass the moon and perhaps go into orbit around the sun, which is some 93 million miles away.

The Army wasn't saying publicly just when it would try again. But Maj. Gen. John P. Medaris, chief of the Army missile command, said another shot is at least a month off. "See me after Christmas," he told interviewers on a television program.

Failure of the Air Force's pioneer I to reach the vicinity of the moon was attributed in part to a higher - than - planned trajectory. Another reason cited was insufficient rocket thrust.

In the case of the Army's Pioneer III, scientists said it was launched at too low an angle. And they said its first stage fuel shut off three seconds too soon, cutting its speed below the 24,900 m.p.h. during takeoff. It slowed as it rose, then gathered speed again on falling.

Medaris said the firing of Pioneer III was completely successful in what he called its primary goal—to record the extent of the radiation band around the earth.

Dr. William H. Pickering said the Army probe's round trip into space enabled scientists to get twice the amount of radiation data they would have gotten if the gold-plated cone had continued on instead of returning toward earth.

Probe Opens Into Negro Vote Charge

Civil Rights Board Launches Its First Public Investigation

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The Civil Rights Commission opened an historic inquiry into Negro voting complaints here today with an expressed disavowal of any intent to take sides in the segregation issue.

It was the first public hearing for the commission since it was created by Congress more than a year ago.

Chairman John A. Hannah and Vice Chairman Robert G. Storey issued prepared statements at the outset of the investigation, emphasizing that the hearing will be what they termed a fact-finding inquiry and nothing more.

The commission gave defiant Alabama officials a new chance to answer charges of discrimination against prospective Negro voters.

But as the hearing opened, there was no indication that subpoenaed voter registration records in six counties would be surrendered to the commission. Hannah and Storey withheld comment on what action might be taken if the witnesses persisted in their threatened refusal to produce records.

Instead, they said the hearing offered officials a chance to disprove the Negroes' charges, if they can, and expressed hope they would take advantage of that opportunity.

They said they had received a substantial number of complaints that Negroes have been denied the right to vote because of race.

Hannah said he hoped the hearing could be completed in two days but would be prolonged if necessary.

Wholesale resistance to bringing records before the commission appeared to be building up over the weekend. The records in Barbour and Bullock counties have been impounded by Circuit Judge George Wallace. He said he would defy a subpoena to produce them and arrest any commission agent trying to take them from his custody.

The files of Dallas, Lowndes and Wilcox were turned over to grand juries for what was described as state investigations of the same complaints made to the federal commissions.

The other county is Macon, where there are six times as many Negroes as whites but only half as many Negro voters as white. State Atty. Gen. John Patterson, governor-elect, has instructed Macon County officials not to surrender voter records to the commission.

Fall May Hit 4-7 Inches By Tuesday

Stiff Wind Expected; May Cause Drifting For Rural Districts

Another heavy snow storm will move into Eastern Ohio tonight and Tuesday, bringing a new accumulation of 4 to 7 inches, the state's weather forecaster warned today.

The light snow that started about 4:30 this morning will become heavier as the day progresses, the weatherman said in a "heavy snow warning." Drifting can be expected in exposed rural sections Tuesday afternoon under increasingly high winds, the forecaster said.

The weather warning came on the heels of two heavy snow storms that led to the closing of all schools in the county's rural system Friday.

However, all the buildings reopened this morning on schedule, including the Beaver Local system, which had closed for the second time in a week. More than 5,000 pupils were affected by the unscheduled holiday Friday, which was called after a heavy new accumulation of snow developed in rural regions outside the sheltered Ohio Valley.

The first heavy storm hit Friday, Nov. 28, bringing an accumulation of 9 inches. The second storm last Friday caused little difficulty in East Liverpool, as the snow melted almost as fast as it hit. However, there was an accumulation of at least 3 inches in the rural regions.

The weatherman said temperatures will continue sub - normal. The high today will be 22-27 degrees and the low tonight will be 15-22. Dam 8 near Newell recorded a low of 9 degrees at 7 a. m. Sunday. The highest reading yesterday was 22 degrees at 2 p. m. The overnight low of 17 was recorded between 1 and 4 this morning.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said main highways in the county were clear this morning, but some secondary roads were slippery.

The Pennsylvania State Highway Department at Rochester reported about an inch of new snow this morning. State roads in the county were slippery in spots.

The Beaver County Highway Department at Brady's Run reported this morning that crews were out cindering parts of the Monaca Rd.

The Rochester Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police reported roads in its area were beginning to get slippery. The Carnegie Barracks reported its area roads dry.

City streets became slick early this morning from the light snow fall and a street crew began ashing grades.

Driver Faces Charge After Traffic Death

County's 1958 Traffic Toll

21 KILLED

DON'T TEMPT FATE IN '58

A Homeworth area man was charged with manslaughter Sunday as the result of the traffic death of a Salem man — one of four weekend road mishaps in which six were injured — the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Francis J. Carey, 48, a metallurgist for a Salem firm, was killed Saturday night about 8 at Westville when another car rammed his auto broadside on Route 62 at the intersection with Lake Placentia Rd.

The patrol said a car driven by Richard S. Smith, 23, of Homeworth R. D., headed north on the Placentia Rd., sped into the intersection into the side of Carey's passing car.

Miss Carmen McNichol, 46, of Salem, a passenger with Carey, suffered chest injuries and was admitted to Salem City Hospital. Smith was treated for an eye and rib injuries.

Carey, who suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries, was the county's 21st traffic fatality this year, compared to 21 at this time last year.

Smith was bound over to the January Grand Jury on a charge of manslaughter Sunday at a hearing before Mayor Harold Smith of Salem. Bond was set at $1,000. Smith also was fined $25 and costs for failure to halt for a stop sign.

Carey was an employe of the American Radiator & Standard Corp. He resided at 445 W. 3rd St. Services will be held Tuesday morning at 9:30 at St. Paul's Catholic Church.

Fred Shaw, 21, of East Liverpool R. D. was cited following a sideswiping of two cars by his truck along Route 30 at Sub-station Saturday.

Officers said a truck driven by Russell Earlwing, 21, of Warnock was pulling Shaw's stalled truck out of a parking place. Shaw had difficulty steering his rig and it

Ohio Bell Cuts Proposal For Rate Increase

Slash Of 40 Per Cent From Previous Plan, Company Reports

The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. presented to the Public Utilities Commission today a pared down schedule of rate increases which would add 60 cents a month to the private line residence rate and 30 cents to the two-party flat rate telephone charge in the East Liverpool-Wellsville area.

In Wellsville, four-party residence service would increase 30 cents per month.

The new rate proposal, which would produce about $7,700,000 annually in additional revenues after taxes, represents an overall cutback of 40 per cent of the increase sought by the company in its original application filed with the PUC last February.

The new schedule is in conformity with an agreement negotiated with representatives of the cities which opposed the February request, the firm said.

If approved by the PUC, the new rate for private residence service in East Liverpool and Wellsville would be $4.55 a month, two-party residence service would be adjusted to $3.65 a month, and rural residence service, $3.45. In Wellsville, where four-party residence service still is offered, the proposed rate would be $2.10 a month.

For business concerns, the revised rate for an individual, flat-rate line would be $10.75 a month, and the new basic rate for measured service would be $7.10 for 90 calls, with the charge for each additional call increased from 4¾ to 5¼ cents.

The rate for residence extension telephones was adjusted to 95 cents and the flat charge on visits to a customer's home was pared to $4.75, for the installation, mov-

USPA Spokesman Reports

Foreign Investment Seen Threat To Ware Industry

If the federal government acts to encourage private investment of U. S. funds in industry abroad, it will be another blow to domestic dinnerware concerns already hard hit by imports from low labor cost countries, a spokesman for the U. S. Potters Association has told a Congressional subcommittee.

Lyle W. Jones, director of the USPA Washington office, appeared Friday before the subcommittee on foreign trade policy of the House ways and means committee.

He said the USPA sees "grave danger" in the proposal and added: "The pottery industry, one of the oldest in the United States and comprised largely of small companies, has been hurt badly by imports from low wage countries."

Excerpts from his talk follow:

"In view of the growing and ruinous competition from low-cost imports, it is to be expected that we would not look with favor on any broad tax concession or other incentives that would tend to enlarge our problem. Such programs should be on a very limited basis so that home industries and labor will not be hurt as a result of expanded investments abroad.

"While I am primarily speaking of the fears of the pottery industry, it can well be the concern of all domestic industry which is faced with foreign competition.

Emphatic 'No' To Plans For Free City

Communists Handed Bad Beating As West Berliners Name Parliament

BERLIN (AP)—The people of West Berlin gave an emphatic no Sunday to Communist plans to drive the Western Allies out of their city.

But the resounding Communist defeat in the election of a new West Berlin Parliament did not kill the Soviet proposal to end the four-power occupation and turn West Berlin into a demilitarized free city. Red spokesmen said the proposal still stood.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt braced his people for shocks to come and warned of serious times ahead.

No Communist candidates were elected in the election, which was widely viewed as a plebiscite on Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal. The Communists were the only ones who supported the Soviet proposals.

Brandt, leader of the Socialists, was re-elected in a smashing personal triumph. His party got 78 of the 133 seats in Parliament, a solid majority. The remaining 55 went to the Christian Democrats, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's party.

The Communist candidates were buried under an avalanche of votes. They received a mere 1.9 per cent of the vote, as compared with 2.7 per cent in the last election in 1954. They have never won a parliamentary seat in West Berlin.

Brandt, 44, a fighting anti-Communist, became the undisputed leader of West Berlin and thus a strong eventual contender for the West German chancellorship.

He declined to say whether he would form an all-Socialist government or continue the previous coalition with the Christian Democrats.

The Soviet Union is proposing that the French, British and American troops leave West Berlin within six months and turn it into a free city independent of both West Germany and Communist East Germany.

Brandt, Adenauer and Allied officials have denounced the plan as a Soviet trick to grab West Berlin.

Moscow radio scoffed at suggestions the election was any kind of referendum of the Soviet proposals.

"It is clear to everyone that the elections have nothing to do with the Soviet proposals," the radio declared, quoting from a Pravda editorial.

The Socialists increased their showing from 44.6 per cent of the popular vote in 1954 to 52.1. The Christian Democrats also gained, from 30.4 to 37.3 per cent.

The turnout was tremendous. Out of a total population of about 2,200,000, more than 1,600,000 voted.

The Socialists rolled up a total of 849,883 votes, the Christian Democrats 608,927, Free Democrats 61,054, German party 53,899, Communists 31,520 and the Free Peoples party 10,675.

Socialist leaders in West Germany classed their party's success in the Berlin vote as a personal defeat for Adenauer. Socialist Party Chairman Erich Ollenhauer said the voters turned against Adenauer even though the chancellor put on a whirl-wind drive for his party at the close of the election campaign.

Adenauer's Christian Democrats said that the Socialist victory was won largely on the high popularity of Mayor Brandt.

Jury Selected As Court Opens Stuttler Trial

Testimony was slated this afternoon at Lisbon in the burglary trial of Louis (Mike) Stuttler, former city police officer charged with an entering of the Burbick Hardware store in 1954.

A jury of four men and eight women was seated this morning as the trial began before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard. The panel visited the Washington St. store late this morning and opening statements were to be made this afternoon.

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw has called two witnesses for this afternoon's testimony.

Stuttler is one of seven officers and special officers indicted following an investigation of the police department in 1956. However, today's trial concerns a separate indictment returned by the recalled April Grand Jury.

Work To Start In Spring

Firm To Select Site In City For Terminal Of Coal Line

A decision is expected within 30 days on the site for an East Liverpool terminal for a proposed $10 million pipe line that will carry pulverized coal between the Ohio River and Youngstown area industrial plants, R. H. Henry of Youngstown, president of the Youngstown Coal Pipe Lines Co., said today.

Henry said the new concern has "four or five sites in mind" for the East Liverpool terminal, which will be located on or near the river front. But he declined to discuss the possible locations until real estate negotiations are completed.

The pipe line company expects to process and ship about 3 million tons of coal a year. Shipped in here by river, the coal will be pulverized at the terminal, then mixed with water and pumped through 12- or 14-inch pipes to another terminal in Youngstown, Henry explained.

He said the new concern has been classified as a public utility by the state, which gives it the right of eminent domain for acquiring sites and right-of-way. Therefore, the new concern does not anticipate any stalemates in acquiring property, Henry explained.

Henry said the new line will be similar to a coal pipe line that has been operated successfully for about a year by the Hanna Coal Co. to move coal from Georgetown, Ohio, to Cleveland for the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. The Hanna firm pulverizes its coal and them pumps it through pipes after it has been mixed with water.

Henry said many of the engineering details of the project have not been worked out finally. For instance, the exact diameter of the pipe has not been determined and the engineers have not decided if more than one pumping station will be required along the right-of-way to keep the material moving.

Asked about financing of the new venture, Henry conceded that the concern cannot raise all the required $10 million in Youngstown, but he said no stock has been offered for public sale. He said all the other officers of the new corporation are Youngstown residents.

The pipe line will be laid under-

Crash Kills 2 In Car Chased By Ohio Police

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP)—A wild chase in which a police car was pelted with watches, lighters and bracelets ended with a thunderous crash which killed two men Sunday.

Only the driver of the pursued car escaped death. Patrolman William Locke of nearby Belpre, who chased it west on U.S. 50 for seven miles, estimated it hit a concrete bridge abutment at 85 to 90 m.p.h.

One occupant was thrown out and killed on impact. The other victim was crushed when the car bounced into the air and hit the opposite side of the bridge.

The dead were identified as Lauren K. Gardner, 18, and Cyrus J. Dotson, 17, both of Parkersburg, W. Va.

Patrolman Locke found Roy D. Harris, 17, also of Parkersburg, still alive. He was taken to a hospital in Parkersburg, where the chain of events began Saturday night when a 1955 model car—the wrecked one—was reported stolen.

Doctors Treat Dulles For Intestinal Ailment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is hospitalized with an intestinal ailment. But his doctors say they find no evidence of a recurrence of cancer.

The State Department said Dulles, 70, was in satisfactory condition at Walter Reed Army Hospital, undergoing treatment for an inflammatory condition of the lower colon. His temperature was reported normal.

The doctors' finding that no cancer was involved was reported by the department Saturday night, when it disclosed for the first time that Dulles had entered the hospital 24 hours earlier. A cancerous section of Dulles' intestine was removed at Walter Reed two years ago.

The announcement said Dulles would remain in the hospital several days for treatment, but officers said he still expects to fly next weekend to Paris for a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council.

Ohio Bell Cuts Proposal For Rate Increase

Slash Of 40 Per Cent From Previous Plan, Company Reports

The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. presented to the Public Utilities Commission today a pared down schedule of rate increases which would add 60 cents a month to the private line residence rate and 30 cents to the two-party flat rate telephone charge in the East Liverpool-Wellsville area.

In Wellsville, four-party residence service would increase 30 cents per month.

Brandt, leader of the Socialists, was re-elected in a smashing personal triumph. His party got 78 of the 133 seats in Parliament, a solid majority. The remaining 55 went to the Christian Democrats, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's party.

The Communist candidates were buried under an avalanche of votes. They received a mere 1.9 per cent of the vote, as compared with 2.7 per cent in the last election in 1954. They have never won a parliamentary seat in West Berlin.

Brandt, 44, a fighting anti-Communist, became the undisputed leader of West Berlin and thus a strong eventual contender for the West German chancellorship.

He declined to say whether he would form an all-Socialist government or continue the previous coalition with the Christian Democrats.

The Soviet Union is proposing that the French, British and American troops leave West Berlin within six months and turn it into a free city independent of both West Germany and Communist East Germany.

Brandt, Adenauer and Allied officials have denounced the plan as a Soviet trick to grab West Berlin.

Moscow radio scoffed at suggestions the election was any kind of referendum of the Soviet proposals.

"It is clear to everyone that the elections have nothing to do with the Soviet proposals," the radio declared, quoting from a Pravda editorial.

The Socialists increased their showing from 44.6 per cent of the popular vote in 1954 to 52.1. The Christian Democrats also gained, from 30.4 to 37.3 per cent.

The turnout was tremendous. Out of a total population of about 2,200,000, more than 1,600,000 voted.

The Socialists rolled up a total of 849,883 votes, the Christian Democrats 608,927, Free Democrats 61,054, German party 53,899, Communists 31,520 and the Free Peoples party 10,675.

Socialist leaders in West Germany classed their party's success in the Berlin vote as a personal defeat for Adenauer. Socialist Party Chairman Erich Ollenhauer said the voters turned against Adenauer even though the chancellor put on a whirl-wind drive for his party at the close of the election campaign.

Adenauer's Christian Democrats said that the Socialist victory was won largely on the high popularity of Mayor Brandt.

Jury Selected As Court Opens Stuttler Trial

Testimony was slated this afternoon at Lisbon in the burglary trial of Louis (Mike) Stuttler, former city police officer charged with an entering of the Burbick Hardware store in 1954.

A jury of four men and eight women was seated this morning as the trial began before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard. The panel visited the Washington St. store late this morning and opening statements were to be made this afternoon.

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw has called two witnesses for this afternoon's testimony.

Stuttler is one of seven officers and special officers indicted following an investigation of the police department in 1956. However, today's trial concerns a separate indictment returned by the recalled April Grand Jury.

Work To Start In Spring

Firm To Select Site In City For Terminal Of Coal Line

A decision is expected within 30 days on the site for an East Liverpool terminal for a proposed $10 million pipe line that will carry pulverized coal between the Ohio River and Youngstown area industrial plants, R. H. Henry of Youngstown, president of the Youngstown Coal Pipe Lines Co., said today.

Henry said the new concern has "four or five sites in mind" for the East Liverpool terminal, which will be located on or near the river front. But he declined to discuss the possible locations until real estate negotiations are completed.

The pipe line company expects to process and ship about 3 million tons of coal a year. Shipped in here by river, the coal will be pulverized at the terminal, then mixed with water and pumped through 12- or 14-inch pipes to another terminal in Youngstown, Henry explained.

He said the new concern has been classified as a public utility by the state, which gives it the right of eminent domain for acquiring sites and right-of-way. Therefore, the new concern does not anticipate any stalemates in acquiring property, Henry explained.

Henry said the new line will be similar to a coal pipe line that has been operated successfully for about a year by the Hanna Coal Co. to move coal from Georgetown, Ohio, to Cleveland for the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. The Hanna firm pulverizes its coal and them pumps it through pipes after it has been mixed with water.

Henry said many of the engineering details of the project have not been worked out finally. For instance, the exact diameter of the pipe has not been determined and the engineers have not decided if more than one pumping station will be required along the right-of-way to keep the material moving.

Asked about financing of the new venture, Henry conceded that the concern cannot raise all the required $10 million in Youngstown, but he said no stock has been offered for public sale. He said all the other officers of the new corporation are Youngstown residents.

The pipe line will be laid under-

Crash Kills 2 In Car Chased By Ohio Police

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP)—A wild chase in which a police car was pelted with watches, lighters and bracelets ended with a thunderous crash which killed two men Sunday.

Only the driver of the pursued car escaped death. Patrolman William Locke of nearby Belpre, who chased it west on U.S. 50 for seven miles, estimated it hit a concrete bridge abutment at 85 to 90 m.p.h.

One occupant was thrown out and killed on impact. The other victim was crushed when the car bounced into the air and hit the opposite side of the bridge.

The dead were identified as Lauren K. Gardner, 18, and Cyrus J. Dotson, 17, both of Parkersburg, W. Va.

Patrolman Locke found Roy D. Harris, 17, also of Parkersburg, still alive. He was taken to a hospital in Parkersburg, where the chain of events began Saturday night when a 1955 model car—the wrecked one—was reported stolen.

Kidnaping Charged

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea today accused the North Korean Communists of kidnaping 42 fishermen and their seven boats off the east coast of Korea.

Doctors Treat Dulles For Intestinal Ailment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is hospitalized with an intestinal ailment. But his doctors say they find no evidence of a recurrence of cancer.

The State Department said Dulles, 70, was in satisfactory condition at Walter Reed Army Hospital, undergoing treatment for an inflammatory condition of the lower colon. His temperature was reported normal.

The doctors' finding that no cancer was involved was reported by the department Saturday night, when it disclosed for the first time that Dulles had entered the hospital 24 hours earlier. A cancerous section of Dulles' intestine was removed at Walter Reed two years ago.

The announcement said Dulles would remain in the hospital several days for treatment, but officers said he still expects to fly next weekend to Paris for a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council.

Will Congress Listen?

Democratic Council Offers Program

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic Advisory Council's broad legislative program appeared likely today to get only passing attention from a Congress which may be more interested in national security than social security.

In its first meeting since last month's elections bolstered Democratic majorities in both House and Senate, the policy-shaping council drafted a 24-point program of goals for the 86th Congress Sunday.

The pronouncement, the most comprehensive and far reaching ever issued by the 24-member council, called for action on a wide range of issues from expansion of Social Security to strengthening of civil rights.

It made no specific recommendations, however, on such things as outer space developments which Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas stressed last month—also in general terms—in a 12-point legislative program for the new Congress. Johnson omitted civil rights from his program.

The council's action put a fresh accent on the liberal views expressed by many of the new Democratic Senate and House members elected last month.

Despite the contention of National Chairman Paul M. Butler that the council's program reflects the direction in which the party is pointing in 1960, however, the proposals do not appear likely to command effective sponsorship in Congress.

The general opinion among politicians is that Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas will, in practical effect, shape the final form of the legislative program that emerges from next year's session.

In the past, Johnson and Rayburn have not paid much attention to the council's recommendations.

In announcing its program, the council said: "Republican reaction, lethargy and indecision of the past six years have allowed this nation to fall woefully behind in meeting the demands of the times."

In addition to expansion of Social Security, the council urged "bold and comprehensive action" on such things as fighting inflation and the high cost of living, increasing the national minimum wage, a new housing program and readjustments of what it called inequities and loopholes in the tax laws.

On civil rights, the council called for enactment of a section struck out of the 1957 civil rights law that would authorize the attorney general to file civil suits against anyone who deprives citizens of "their rights to equal protection of the laws, on account of race, color, religion, or national origin."

He was at various times president of a bank, lumber company and a building and loan firm, was a director of several corporations and had headed the Ohio Council of Churches and Ohio Fair Managers' Assn.

Red River Chews Off Another Hunk Of Texas

YUBA, Okla. (AP)—The ever-changing Red River, the border between Texas and Oklahoma, has cut a new channel near here, annexing a mile-square area of the Lone Star State to the Sooners.

No families were living in the new Oklahoma territory, formerly part of Fannin County, Tex.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled the south bank of the Red River is the dividing line between the two states. And the constantly changing stream poses problems for tax collectors of both states, since one state can't legally tax residents of another.

Beating Theory Upheld In Crowley Death Case

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese expert called by the defense gave testimony today tending to corroborate the prosecution charge that T. A. D. Jones Jr. of New Haven, Conn., died from a beating.

Dr. Kyuhei Nakadate's testimony was introduced at the manslaughter trial of Joseph P. Crowley, 49, also of New Haven, Jones' brother-in-law, who is accused of fatally beating Jones in their hotel suit May 8 after a night of drinking.

Crowley, who has pleaded innocent, contends that Jones' injuries were caused accidentally by a heavy lamp falling on him. But Dr. Nakadate, in a report read in court by presiding Judge Saburo Yashima, expressed the opinion that the injuries were caused by something similar to fist blows and kicks.

Nakadate also said he "failed to understand" the opinion of another defense witness, Dr. Oscar Hunter, Washington, D. C., pathologist, that Jones' injuries likely were caused by the falling lamp.

Both prosecution and defense also submitted affidavits concerning the fee of $3.33 and bonus of $1,000 Crowley paid to Dr. Jo Ono of Tokyo for treating Jones before his death.

The prosecution introduced letters from Dr. Clyde L. Dening, president of the New Haven County Medical Assn., and Dr. Joseph N. D'Esopo of New Haven, that $50 would have been an adequate fee.

The defense countered with a letter from Dr. Hunter saying he considered $1,000 within reason.

Conviction on the charge against Crowley could carry a jail term of 2 to 15 years. The next trial session is scheduled Dec. 18.

YUBA, Okla. (AP)—The ever-changing Red River, the border between Texas and Oklahoma, has cut a new channel near here, annexing a mile-square area of the Lone Star State to the Sooners.

No families were living in the new Oklahoma territory, formerly part of Fannin County, Tex.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled the south bank of the Red River is the dividing line between the two states. And the constantly changing stream poses problems for tax collectors of both states, since one state can't legally tax residents of another.

ORONO, Maine (AP)—Leonard L. Army Recruits 8 Area Men

4 Enter Technical Training Program

Eight area men enlisted in the Army during November, according to Sgt. Emuel Bosley, city recruiter at the Post Office. Seven are from the city and all are at Ft. Jackson, S. C., for eight weeks of basic training.

Enlisting in the technical school of their choice were Michael A. Walton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walton, 144 Fawcett St.; Robert T. Johnstone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denver A. Johnstone, 509 Orchard Grove Ave.; Jay C. Prideau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Prideau of the Sprucevale Rd., and William T. Kerr, son of William F. Kerr Jr., 2023 St. Clair Ave.

Prideau selected the ordnance electronics course, Walton the cryptographic repair school and Johnstone the missile school for Nike-Ajax fire control systems maintenance. All are 1958 graduates of East Liverpool High School. Kerr, a graduate of the Pittsburgh School Board through the general educational development test, selected the reconnaisance helicopter repair course.

Entering the Army unassigned was Ronald H. Poole, son of Mrs. Violet J. Poole, 108 E. 6th St., also a 1958 graduate. Selecting a special assignment in the Army Security Agency was Ronald L. Stauffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Stauffer of R. D. 1. He is a 1957 graduate.

Entering the Ordnance Corps was Laren D. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard G. Johnson, 778 Dresden Ave. Philip Schulz of Campbell, who recently arrived in America after residing in several countries in Europe, entered the Signal Corps.

The Red Cross certified 104,500 nurses for military service in World War II, more than four times as many as in World War I.

Name It; The Russians Will Do It

Aviation Week is probably right in its report that the Russians have made and are flying a nuclear-powered airplane.

Everything points to this probability—not just the ordinary signs, like Russia's demonstrated mastery of fission and fusion and the skill that gave it a long lead in rocketry, but one extraordinary sign that is not fully understood in the United States.

Besides mastery of science and technology, there is a tremendous determination on the part of the Russian government to prove that the things it can do are at least equal to the things other governments can do and are, in many instances, superior.

This determination has been passed along to enough of the people who carry out the government's commands to make them marked men. Their names still are not known, except to a handful of men in other countries who work in the same fields. But their deeds are making a legend of scientific progress in Russia without precedent in that formerly backward country.

It is not that the Russians suddenly have become smarter. Clearly it is not that the credo of Marxism gives them more reason to work than they would have under the credo of Benjamin Franklin.

It is simply that the powerful incentive to prove equality and superiority driving the men who are making the key decisions in the Soviet Union has left other governments in the lurch.

THERE EXISTS in the government of the United States nothing of comparable force—and if it did exist it would be trimmed down, tapered off and cut back to size by the deliberative process of doing things. It needs to be remembered that the United States developed the A-bomb by sidetracking the deliberative process temporarily.

In Russia, the deliberative process has been sidetracked permanently.

The Kremlin can order anything done that its bureaucratic despots can agree to do, it will be done until they have another orgy of political cannibalism—a practice they are modifying lately, to Russia's long-term advantage.

But what they have in Russia that is in short supply elsewhere is incentive to show what Russia can do. They are trying to upgrade an entire nation's technical standing in less than one generation.

Their people are working harder than their counterparts in other countries. Their scientists and engineers are buckling down harder. There isn't a hula hoop from the Caspian Sea to Bering Straits, but there's a Russian satellite that weighs upward of two tons, an operational intercontinental ballistic missle and now, in all probability, a nuclear-powered airplane.

THERE'S NO LIMIT to what can be done by people on a do-or-die basis. Americans proved that when they crashed into the industrial era after the end of the Civil War.

They tackled every task with a spirit of challenge. They were trying to prove something to those "foreigners" who had been trying to shove them into oblivion in the War of the Revolution, the War of 1812 and the War Between the States.

Today, Russia is trying to prove something.

Americans seem to have run out of steam. We would like to be first, and we hate it when we are second, but we do not hate being second-best enough to be first at any cost—not in the things government alone can do, like nuclear-powered airplanes.

The Remedy Is In The Legislature

The Ohio Supreme Court has ruled that supplemental unemployment benefits cannot be paid under the Ohio Unemployment Compensation Act, as now written.

This had been the basis of an administrative decision to the same effect. Aside from differences of opinion about the wording of the law, it had been the apparent intent of the Ohio General Assembly when the legislation was put on the books to treat everybody alike.

Legislators were concerned then and have been concerned since with the problem of employers as well as employes under the Ohio Unemployment Act. They were fearful that anything which would give one group of employes an advantage over other employes would give rise to inequities that would penalize employers.

This was a point of view favorable to employers. It was one of a number of points of view of this kind that have caused Ohio to be looked on with favor by new enterprises and by established concerns choosing locations for new plants.

It is true that the specific question of supplemental unemployment benefits never was considered by the General Assembly. The question did not arise until private contracts between a few Ohio employers and a few unions confronted the state with a privately authorized practice not covered by any clear public policy.

In this shadowland, an administrative ruling by the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation followed the general principle of equity in the Ohio Unemployment Act — that all beneficiaries should be treated alike in the matter of unemployment compensation.

This made the courts the only way to authorize a private practice that had not been authorized either by the legislature or by executive decision.

The judicial process having run its course, the proponents of supplemental unemployment benefits now must go to the new General Assembly to authorize the performance of private contracts that contain SUB agreements.

There seems to be no doubt that they will be successful. The majority in the new General Assembly is strongly inclined to be favorable to the unions that have made SUB agreement with Ohio employers.

Any Number Can Play

One of the notable results of the French voting that has repudiated Communist politicking in France is the disappearance of many old, familiar faces.

It had been said of French politics many times that the more things changed the more they were the same, because the same men kept bobbing up in new positions. They were on and off the field of public affairs oftener than the members of a professional football team.

But now the wheelhorses have grown tired and left the fray, as they would prefer to explain what happened. What really happened is, of course, that French voters grew tired of them and threw them out of office.

This ruthlessness is not peculiar to French voters. It is a mood that settles over voters from time to time — a blackboard frame of mind in which it seems to be a marvelous idea to wipe out the old names and write new ones.

It is a game any number can play.

Each player, in turn, writes the names of five officeholders on a blackboard. Then in the same order each player erases the names of four officeholders. The survivors, if any, have withstood the political erasure test, but for one round only.

In the next round, they too may disappear.

When It Snows

The district already has dug its way out of two good snows and more snow has been falling.

Before it gets too deep again, here are a few things to consider which will ease the situation:

Clean your sidewalks as quickly as possible. It's a lot easier to shovel snow than it is to pick and scrape at solid ice later. And it's safer for you and other pedestrians when the sidewalk is clear.

See that your car is moved on the night when the city scraper is to clean the street in your neighborhood.

Make sure that your car is properly equipped for handling snow and ice. If it isn't, leave it at home for your sake and the sake of a lot of others.

There always will be problems when it snows, but these problems can be minimized by clear thinking and a cooperative attitude.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

A horse player is happy only when he can see the horses, hear their hoofbeats or otherwise know they are still near. He can still make bets on skinners in warmer climates but he is comfortable making selections in a cold room, placing bets in a windy alley and figuring his losses beside a defective radiator. His query, "What do you like in the fifth?" is painful through chapped lips and "Here are my figures" can be grim stuff through chattering teeth. He is a pathetic figure with his nose frostbitten, his feet suffering from chilblains and a mustard plaster in a photo finish with a bottle of aspirin tablets in his medicine chest.

NIXON FOUND HIMSELF in London without a tuxedo. That's nothing; millions of Republicans found themselves in election results without even a shirt.

Cleveland has a TV course in Russian language. The hard part is to distinguish it from static.

"I would like to sit down around the table and drink toasts with Russia's war time allies"—Khrushchev. Probably favoring such toasts as "Here's to the Free World; may it never cease to fumble the ball," "Here's to a global peace; ya wanna bet?" and "Let us drink to brotherhood and hope the hypocrisy isn't too obvious."

KHRUSHCHEV SPEAKS

Don't you realize my friendship
And the help I was to you
(When I signed with Adolf Hitler
And with Mussolini, too)?
Do you lack appreciation
Of my aid to you so fine
(When I gripped their hands so warmly
With a hearty "Pal of mine!")?

II

Can it be you have forgotten
Dunkirk, and Pearl Harbor's blow
(When I strove to be your helpmate
Through a pact made with your foe)?
What ingratitude abysmal,
When I bore the brunt of war
(Waiting 'til the final hour
On the low end of the score).

III

Have you no appreciation
How I fought and licked your foes
(When my pals had double-crossed me
And my finish seemed quite close)?
Oh, how sad I feel in checking
On events so clear to see (Proving how the world was rescued SINGLEHANDEDLY BY ME)!

THE RACING SEASON is closed in the North. Its gloomiest residents are horse players who can't go south to lose money.

A Scandal That Hasn't Come To Light

By David Lawrence

The biggest scandal in Washington never emerges above the surface to make the headlines. The federal laws forbidding labor unions and corporations from making political campaign contributions are being constantly violated. Although the present law has been on the statute books for 11 years, there have been only four prosecutions by the Department of Justice. Due to technicalities, it has failed to get any convictions.

David Lawrence

The New York Herald Tribune on last Wednesday published a brief dispatch from Washington which said:

"The Senate rackets committee is having some second thoughts about a projected investigation of union political contributions. Such a probe, if is felt, might well disclose that a good many senators from both parties — including even some committee members — were recipients of campaign gifts obtained from union dues in violation of the Taft-Hartley Act."

It has been conceded that in the recent congressional election 172 of the winning candidates for the House of Representatives got labor-union support of a financial nature. Many millions of dollars collected from union members were spent.

Will people begin to think that there is something questionable about the congressional set-up?

ONE WOULD suppose that the members of Congress themselves would wish to have their names cleared of any scandal. Many of them doubtless would argue conscientiously that they believe the law is unconstitutional.

If it is unconstitutional, then they should be advocating its repeal so that corporations as well as labor unions would have the opportunity to spend their money freely in political campaigns.

When the four cases involving prosecutions for violation of the federal law were tried, the Supreme Court of the United States did not clarify the constitutional issues but turned the cases back to the lower courts on technical grounds.

In a pamphlet analyzing the status of the present law and court decisions, a prominent Washington law firm, Gall, Lane & Howe, states the following conclusions:

"THE STATUTE has been so rewritten by the Supreme Court — primarily out of constitutional considerations — that it is now difficult to identify the former statute with the present law.

"As to particular union political activities and the expenditures therefor, the law now appears to be:

"1. Union 'contributions' of general union funds directly to candidates for federal office or their political committees are forbidden.

"2. Regular union periodicals or newspapers financed from union funds may contain political material and be distributed to those accustomed to receiving copies. This is not a violation of Sec. 313.

"3. Nor — at least in the Second Circuit — is it a violation for a union without a regular periodical to buy newspaper advertising or radio time to endorse congressional candidates, but

"4. It is a violation of Sec. 313 for a union to 'expend' union funds for commercial television broadcasts or other political activities with the intent to influence the general electorate in federal elections, and

"5. The primary distinction between (2) and (4) is that (2) involved a 'house organ' not directed to the public at large whereas (4) involves (as the Supreme Court said) 'the evil at which Congress has struck in Sec. 313,' namely 'the use of corporate or union dues to influence the public at large to vote for a particular candidate or a particular party' but nevertheless,

"6. General union funds made available to union political action committees such as COPE may be illegally 'expended' or 'contributed' if the funds have been involuntarily exacted from union members."

SEC. 313 of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act unequivocally makes it a federal crime for any labor organization or corporation "to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any (federal) election."

The same law defines "contribution" as "anything of value." Yet, with all the hue and cry about "civil rights" and "filibuster rules," none of those who are articulate on such subjects are calling for obedience to or compliance with the "law of the land" governing clean elections.

One would suppose that something that affects the integrity of government itself would be in the forefront of attention and that the Department of Justice, which is so busy with anti-trust suits based on the most complex of legal statutes, would find some way to bring more than four prosecutions in 11 years in relation to corrupt practices in federal elections.

How can Americans criticize the lawless methods of the Soviets and their interference with free elections when in this country corruption and violation of the "law of the land" are countenanced in the very selection of members to the nation's top legislative body?

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: It is my luck to find someone who agrees with me in Wellington, New Zealand. We'll never get together, but I would like to shake his hand.

His name is Sir Charles Hercus, and he is dean of the Otago Medical School. I am glad he is in medicine, because anyone who is in medicine has an aura of expertness we ordinary knuckleheads never quite achieve. Maybe they'll listen to him.

Where Sir Charley and I have reached agreement is not in anything medical but in something statistical. Both of us have concluded it is tommyrot to believe that people are living longer because more people stay alive longer.

Sir Charley grudgingly admits that the life expectancy of a man may have been stretched as much as a year since 1900, meaning that when we reach 65 our upper limit may be one year further away than it was half a century ago. That is far as he will go.

I haven't been going that far. I have been hammering away at the fallacy of a lot of tomfool statistics that have been making gullible people think it is possible to live longer than people used to live.

That simply isn't true.

All that has happened is that fewer people die needlessly before their time, thanks to the fact doctors know more about their business. But the limit of longevity has not been changed to any important extent. If Sir Charles is right, maybe it has been stretched a year by geriatrics, central heating, television and social security, which take some of the load off the oldsters' shoulders.

I also can cheer about my New Zealand friend's other remark, that there is no point in years where it can be said a man grows old. All of us have been bowled over at one time or another by an oldster who has as much spunk and energy as a youngster. All of us, moreover, have been made sick at heart by a youngster who had shriveled up and started to blow away before he got out of his '30s.

As I can testify, you can't do anything about your hardened arteries, your failing eyesight, your bad ear and the sand someone has poured into your differential housing. But you can do something about hardening of the mind, failure to observe what is going on, refusal to listen and temptation to drive with the brakes on because things ahead aren't as clear as they used to be.

If you ever get to New Zealand, be sure to look up Sir Charles Hercus and give him my regards. Tell him I beat him to the punch but congratulate him in my behalf for refusing to swallow everything that statisticians feed to the goldfish.

One day before long these fellows will be telling us about the federal budget, and I won't believe that, either. I'm onto them. It all depends on whose figures you're allowed to see — the ones they show the bill collectors or the ones they keep for the stockholders.

I trust you have given sufficient thought to my Christmas present so that I will not feel neglected on Christmas morning. Regards to all.

Democrats Blast Away

By James Marlow

Offer No Basic Change Of Own, However

WASHINGTON

A highly critical Democratic Advisory Council — of which former President Harry S. Truman and Adlai Stevenson are members — blasts President Eisenhower's conduct of foreign affairs but offers no basic change of its own.

That sums up the long statement issued Sunday night by the council on American goals at home and abroad. It was a lot more explicit about domestic targets than foreign ones.

The council did suggest the Democrats, since they're running Congress, could produce a foreign policy they like if Eisenhower fails to please them. The council said:

Congress "has its own constitutional tasks both in devising policy and in wisely exercising the power to grant legal authority for its execution, along with the necessary manpower, material and funds."

But the council is caught in a double irony:

The Democrats, who will run Congress these next two years, have been running it the past four. In that time they did not, as a party, produce any foreign policy basically different from Eisenhower's.

They would be in an embarrassing position if they did.

The basic policy followed rigidly by Eisenhower since he took office in 1953 — containment of Soviet and Chinese Communists by ringing them with military bases and alliances — was the one laid down and followed by Truman before him.

The council even seemed to say — but not in so many words — that it approves the containment policy and wants no change in that. It said: "We are wholly determined that our country shall carry out solemn commitments to which it is a party."

The only place where the council got specific on foreign policy was in the field of foreign aid. It wants that stepped up.

But on the basic policy — since over the years neither party has thought of something new or different — there's no reason to expect any change in the next two years.

For instance: Last week Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made it clear American policy towards Red China — a policy initiated by Truman — will remain rigidly unchanged for Eisenhower's last two years in office.

The policy toward the Red Chinese — in addition to American military alliances around them — is nonrecognition.

This country under both Democrats and Republicans has refused to recognize the Chinese Communists as the lawful rulers of mainland China, has no formally official dealings with them, and is against United Nations membership for them.

Dulles — and he seemed to be projecting his thought into the indefinite future — said that to recognize the Chinese Reds and welcome them into the family of nations would be to pave the road to American disaster.

This way: The prestige thus given the Communists would increase their influence in Asia where they are bent on eliminating American trade and driving the United States out of the western Pacific.

Since the Soviet and Red Chinese basic foreign policy is also rigid — push and take over where they can, always with the thought of undermining and surrounding the West — no real change on either side is likely, at least soon.

Nixon And 1960

By Raymond Moley

Since the election I have spent several days in the West and Midwest and find that the most commonly asked question is, "Who will be nominated in 1960?"

This involves — as always in so long a period before the event—a good deal of useless and futile speculation.

As far as the most frequently mentioned name is concerned on the Republican side, Vice President Nixon, the answer might be: "Will a Republican nomination that year be worth having?"

But since off-year elections in the past have almost always gone against the party having possession of the White House, it is altogether off the mark to assume that a Republican cannot win.

However, the weaknesses in the Republican party manifested last month are of importance, and since Nixon is the one whose interests are most concerned in eliminating those weaknesses, he becomes the individual charged with the repair job.

AT THE MOMENT, speculation seems to be concentrated on the Rockefeller "threat" to Nixon's chances for the nomination. Some are fond of drawing a parallel between the Nixon candidacy and that of Sen. Taft in 1948 and in 1952.

It is undoubtedly true that there will be efforts to push Rockefeller as a rival to the vice president.

The same interests and individuals will be concerned in such efforts as were active in behalf of Wendell Willkie in 1940 and Dwight Eisenhower in 1952.

Stassen has popped his head out of the rubble of his defeat in Pennsylvania to threaten that he will be a candidate.

He says that he will not be a candidate "in a real sense," but only to hurt Nixon.

Well, Stassen never was a candidate "in a real sense." In 1952 a very wealthy Texan contributed to Stassen's silly quest not because he believed in him, but to hurt Taft.

These stop-Nixon people are mainly what have come to be called "modern" Republicans.

Curiously enough, since they claim to be more "liberal" than the Republican regulars in the Midwest and West, they are concentrated in eastern financial centers; many work in Wall St. and live on Park Ave.

They are well equipped with money, and they receive plenty of support from some big metropolitan newspapers and Madison Ave. publicity firms.

Their tactics follow a pattern. First, they tear down the favorite of the regulars — largely by claiming that he cannot win. Then, with all their power, they build their man as one who is "fresh, progressive and forward-looking."

It was so with the Willkie and Eisenhower blitz. It may be so with Rockefeller, if he does nothing to stop it.

BUT THE PARALLEL between the Nixon cause and that of Taft needs a good deal of qualification. Taft labored indefatigably and was a towering statesman. But he was always hampered by his choice of managers.

They made damaging mistakes, such as the critical moment in the 1952 convention when they sought to hold more members of the Texas delegation than, in fact, they were entitled to claim.

It was that fatal decision, after plenty of others in the weeks before, that turned the tide and lost Taft the nomination.

Nixon's opposition will find that they are dealing with a vastly more astute politician than was Taft.

His choice of managers in earlier campaigns has always been notable. One of his most recent acquisitions has been Robert Finch, who was for some time executive for a remarkably effective group of business leaders in Los Angeles called the Republican Associates.

But the vice president himself is the master strategist with whom his opposition must deal. And he has, in addition to his own native ability, the exalted office of vice president as a forum.

Most important, he is more familiar with the many problems that are scattered over the party organizations in the states.

His comprehension of organizational methods is ample, and he makes no mistake in believing that issues rather than organization win elections. Shaping up and popularizing a party faith and philosophy will be a major task for him.

Finally, he is in a position to encourage the nomination of more attractive candidates for elective offices in the states and congressional districts.

The party needs all three components — better and more efficient organization, good candidates at the local and state levels, and a comprehensive set of policies. These it will be Nixon's destiny to produce in the 18 months ahead.

Odd Facts

During the past year, American's dropped about $1,800 million in coins into vending machines, not counting telephones, parking meters, and service meters—and for these coins they received items ranging from hot coffee, cold drinks, hot soup, cigarettes, and fresh fruit drinks to pocket combs, toothbrushes, handkerchiefs, music, and hot meals.

There are more than 2,400,000 American adults 45 years of age or older now taking educational courses, according to figures issued by the U. S. Office of Education. The total number of adults of all ages now attending classes is eight million.

The median age at which American women marry today is 20.2 years. The average married woman has 2.03 children and the number of women with three or more children has doubled within the last 20 years.

The U. S. president who had the most children was John Tyler —with 14 by two wives.

Aviation Week is probably right in its report that the Russians have made and are flying a nuclear-powered airplane.

Everything points to this probability—not just the ordinary signs, like Russia's demonstrated mastery of fission and fusion and the skill that gave it a long lead in rocketry, but one extraordinary sign that is not fully understood in the United States.

Besides mastery of science and technology, there is a tremendous determination on the part of the Russian government to prove that the things it can do are at least equal to the things other governments can do and are, in many instances, superior.

This determination has been passed along to enough of the people who carry out the government's commands to make them marked men. Their names still are not known, except to a handful of men in other countries who work in the same fields. But their deeds are making a legend of scientific progress in Russia without precedent in that formerly backward country.

It is not that the Russians suddenly have become smarter. Clearly it is not that the credo of Marxism gives them more reason to work than they would have under the credo of Benjamin Franklin.

It is simply that the powerful incentive to prove equality and superiority driving the men who are making the key decisions in the Soviet Union has left other governments in the lurch.

THERE EXISTS in the government of the United States nothing of comparable force—and if it did exist it would be trimmed down, tapered off and cut back to size by the deliberative process of doing things. It needs to be remembered that the United States developed the A-bomb by sidetracking the deliberative process temporarily.

In Russia, the deliberative process has been sidetracked permanently.

The Kremlin can order anything done that its bureaucratic despots can agree to do, it will be done until they have another orgy of political cannibalism—a practice they are modifying lately, to Russia's long-term advantage.

But what they have in Russia that is in short supply elsewhere is incentive to show what Russia can do. They are trying to upgrade an entire nation's technical standing in less than one generation.

Their people are working harder than their counterparts in other countries. Their scientists and engineers are buckling down harder. There isn't a hula hoop from the Caspian Sea to Bering Straits, but there's a Russian satellite that weighs upward of two tons, an operational intercontinental ballistic missle and now, in all probability, a nuclear-powered airplane.

THERE'S NO LIMIT to what can be done by people on a do-or-die basis. Americans proved that when they crashed into the industrial era after the end of the Civil War.

They tackled every task with a spirit of challenge. They were trying to prove something to those "foreigners" who had been trying to shove them into oblivion in the War of the Revolution, the War of 1812 and the War Between the States.

Today, Russia is trying to prove something.

Americans seem to have run out of steam. We would like to be first, and we hate it when we are second, but we do not hate being second-best enough to be first at any cost—not in the things government alone can do, like nuclear-powered airplanes.

The Remedy Is In The Legislature

The Ohio Supreme Court has ruled that supplemental unemployment benefits cannot be paid under the Ohio Unemployment Compensation Act, as now written.

This had been the basis of an administrative decision to the same effect. Aside from differences of opinion about the wording of the law, it had been the apparent intent of the Ohio General Assembly when the legislation was put on the books to treat everybody alike.

Legislators were concerned then and have been concerned since with the problem of employers as well as employes under the Ohio Unemployment Act. They were fearful that anything which would give one group of employes an advantage over other employes would give rise to inequities that would penalize employers.

This was a point of view favorable to employers. It was one of a number of points of view of this kind that have caused Ohio to be looked on with favor by new enterprises and by established concerns choosing locations for new plants.

It is true that the specific question of supplemental unemployment benefits never was considered by the General Assembly. The question did not arise until private contracts between a few Ohio employers and a few unions confronted the state with a privately authorized practice not covered by any clear public policy.

In this shadowland, an administrative ruling by the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation followed the general principle of equity in the Ohio Unemployment Act — that all beneficiaries should be treated alike in the matter of unemployment compensation.

This made the courts the only way to authorize a private practice that had not been authorized either by the legislature or by executive decision.

The judicial process having run its course, the proponents of supplemental unemployment benefits now must go to the new General Assembly to authorize the performance of private contracts that contain SUB agreements.

There seems to be no doubt that they will be successful. The majority in the new General Assembly is strongly inclined to be favorable to the unions that have made SUB agreement with Ohio employers.

Any Number Can Play

One of the notable results of the French voting that has repudiated Communist politicking in France is the disappearance of many old, familiar faces.

It had been said of French politics many times that the more things changed the more they were the same, because the same men kept bobbing up in new positions. They were on and off the field of public affairs oftener than the members of a professional football team.

But now the wheelhorses have grown tired and left the fray, as they would prefer to explain what happened. What really happened is, of course, that French voters grew tired of them and threw them out of office.

This ruthlessness is not peculiar to French voters. It is a mood that settles over voters from time to time — a blackboard frame of mind in which it seems to be a marvelous idea to wipe out the old names and write new ones.

It is a game any number can play.

Each player, in turn, writes the names of five officeholders on a blackboard. Then in the same order each player erases the names of four officeholders. The survivors, if any, have withstood the political erasure test, but for one round only.

In the next round, they too may disappear.

When It Snows

The district already has dug its way out of two good snows and more snow has been falling.

Before it gets too deep again, here are a few things to consider which will ease the situation:

Clean your sidewalks as quickly as possible. It's a lot easier to shovel snow than it is to pick and scrape at solid ice later. And it's safer for you and other pedestrians when the sidewalk is clear.

See that your car is moved on the night when the city scraper is to clean the street in your neighborhood.

Make sure that your car is properly equipped for handling snow and ice. If it isn't, leave it at home for your sake and the sake of a lot of others.

There always will be problems when it snows, but these problems can be minimized by clear thinking and a cooperative attitude.

A Scandal That Hasn't Come To Light

By David Lawrence

The biggest scandal in Washington never emerges above the surface to make the headlines. The federal laws forbidding labor unions and corporations from making political campaign contributions are being constantly violated. Although the present law has been on the statute books for 11 years, there have been only four prosecutions by the Department of Justice. Due to technicalities, it has failed to get any convictions.

David Lawrence

The New York Herald Tribune on last Wednesday published a brief dispatch from Washington which said:

"The Senate rackets committee is having some second thoughts about a projected investigation of union political contributions. Such a probe, if is felt, might well disclose that a good many senators from both parties — including even some committee members — were recipients of campaign gifts obtained from union dues in violation of the Taft-Hartley Act."

It has been conceded that in the recent congressional election 172 of the winning candidates for the House of Representatives got labor-union support of a financial nature. Many millions of dollars collected from union members were spent.

Will people begin to think that there is something questionable about the congressional set-up?

ONE WOULD suppose that the members of Congress themselves would wish to have their names cleared of any scandal. Many of them doubtless would argue conscientiously that they believe the law is unconstitutional.

If it is unconstitutional, then they should be advocating its repeal so that corporations as well as labor unions would have the opportunity to spend their money freely in political campaigns.

When the four cases involving prosecutions for violation of the federal law were tried, the Supreme Court of the United States did not clarify the constitutional issues but turned the cases back to the lower courts on technical grounds.

In a pamphlet analyzing the status of the present law and court decisions, a prominent Washington law firm, Gall, Lane & Howe, states the following conclusions:

"THE STATUTE has been so rewritten by the Supreme Court — primarily out of constitutional considerations — that it is now difficult to identify the former statute with the present law.

"As to particular union political activities and the expenditures therefor, the law now appears to be:

"1. Union 'contributions' of general union funds directly to candidates for federal office or their political committees are forbidden.

"2. Regular union periodicals or newspapers financed from union funds may contain political material and be distributed to those accustomed to receiving copies. This is not a violation of Sec. 313.

"3. Nor — at least in the Second Circuit — is it a violation for a union without a regular periodical to buy newspaper advertising or radio time to endorse congressional candidates, but

"4. It is a violation of Sec. 313 for a union to 'expend' union funds for commercial television broadcasts or other political activities with the intent to influence the general electorate in federal elections, and

"5. The primary distinction between (2) and (4) is that (2) involved a 'house organ' not directed to the public at large whereas (4) involves (as the Supreme Court said) 'the evil at which Congress has struck in Sec. 313,' namely 'the use of corporate or union dues to influence the public at large to vote for a particular candidate or a particular party' but nevertheless,

"6. General union funds made available to union political action committees such as COPE may be illegally 'expended' or 'contributed' if the funds have been involuntarily exacted from union members."

SEC. 313 of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act unequivocally makes it a federal crime for any labor organization or corporation "to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any (federal) election."

The same law defines "contribution" as "anything of value." Yet, with all the hue and cry about "civil rights" and "filibuster rules," none of those who are articulate on such subjects are calling for obedience to or compliance with the "law of the land" governing clean elections.

One would suppose that something that affects the integrity of government itself would be in the forefront of attention and that the Department of Justice, which is so busy with anti-trust suits based on the most complex of legal statutes, would find some way to bring more than four prosecutions in 11 years in relation to corrupt practices in federal elections.

How can Americans criticize the lawless methods of the Soviets and their interference with free elections when in this country corruption and violation of the "law of the land" are countenanced in the very selection of members to the nation's top legislative body?

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: It is my luck to find someone who agrees with me in Wellington, New Zealand. We'll never get together, but I would like to shake his hand.

His name is Sir Charles Hercus, and he is dean of the Otago Medical School. I am glad he is in medicine, because anyone who is in medicine has an aura of expertness we ordinary knuckleheads never quite achieve. Maybe they'll listen to him.

Where Sir Charley and I have reached agreement is not in anything medical but in something statistical. Both of us have concluded it is tommyrot to believe that people are living longer because more people stay alive longer.

Sir Charley grudgingly admits that the life expectancy of a man may have been stretched as much as a year since 1900, meaning that when we reach 65 our upper limit may be one year further away than it was half a century ago. That is far as he will go.

I haven't been going that far. I have been hammering away at the fallacy of a lot of tomfool statistics that have been making gullible people think it is possible to live longer than people used to live.

That simply isn't true.

All that has happened is that fewer people die needlessly before their time, thanks to the fact doctors know more about their business. But the limit of longevity has not been changed to any important extent. If Sir Charles is right, maybe it has been stretched a year by geriatrics, central heating, television and social security, which take some of the load off the oldsters' shoulders.

I also can cheer about my New Zealand friend's other remark, that there is no point in years where it can be said a man grows old. All of us have been bowled over at one time or another by an oldster who has as much spunk and energy as a youngster. All of us, moreover, have been made sick at heart by a youngster who had shriveled up and started to blow away before he got out of his '30s.

As I can testify, you can't do anything about your hardened arteries, your failing eyesight, your bad ear and the sand someone has poured into your differential housing. But you can do something about hardening of the mind, failure to observe what is going on, refusal to listen and temptation to drive with the brakes on because things ahead aren't as clear as they used to be.

If you ever get to New Zealand, be sure to look up Sir Charles Hercus and give him my regards. Tell him I beat him to the punch but congratulate him in my behalf for refusing to swallow everything that statisticians feed to the goldfish.

One day before long these fellows will be telling us about the federal budget, and I won't believe that, either. I'm onto them. It all depends on whose figures you're allowed to see — the ones they show the bill collectors or the ones they keep for the stockholders.

I trust you have given sufficient thought to my Christmas present so that I will not feel neglected on Christmas morning. Regards to all.

Democrats Blast Away

By James Marlow

Offer No Basic Change Of Own, However

WASHINGTON

A highly critical Democratic Advisory Council — of which former President Harry S. Truman and Adlai Stevenson are members — blasts President Eisenhower's conduct of foreign affairs but offers no basic change of its own.

That sums up the long statement issued Sunday night by the council on American goals at home and abroad. It was a lot more explicit about domestic targets than foreign ones.

The council did suggest the Democrats, since they're running Congress, could produce a foreign policy they like if Eisenhower fails to please them. The council said:

Congress "has its own constitutional tasks both in devising policy and in wisely exercising the power to grant legal authority for its execution, along with the necessary manpower, material and funds."

But the council is caught in a double irony:

The Democrats, who will run Congress these next two years, have been running it the past four. In that time they did not, as a party, produce any foreign policy basically different from Eisenhower's.

They would be in an embarrassing position if they did.

The basic policy followed rigidly by Eisenhower since he took office in 1953 — containment of Soviet and Chinese Communists by ringing them with military bases and alliances — was the one laid down and followed by Truman before him.

The council even seemed to say — but not in so many words — that it approves the containment policy and wants no change in that. It said: "We are wholly determined that our country shall carry out solemn commitments to which it is a party."

The only place where the council got specific on foreign policy was in the field of foreign aid. It wants that stepped up.

But on the basic policy — since over the years neither party has thought of something new or different — there's no reason to expect any change in the next two years.

For instance: Last week Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made it clear American policy towards Red China — a policy initiated by Truman — will remain rigidly unchanged for Eisenhower's last two years in office.

The policy toward the Red Chinese — in addition to American military alliances around them — is nonrecognition.

This country under both Democrats and Republicans has refused to recognize the Chinese Communists as the lawful rulers of mainland China, has no formally official dealings with them, and is against United Nations membership for them.

Dulles — and he seemed to be projecting his thought into the indefinite future — said that to recognize the Chinese Reds and welcome them into the family of nations would be to pave the road to American disaster.

This way: The prestige thus given the Communists would increase their influence in Asia where they are bent on eliminating American trade and driving the United States out of the western Pacific.

Since the Soviet and Red Chinese basic foreign policy is also rigid — push and take over where they can, always with the thought of undermining and surrounding the West — no real change on either side is likely, at least soon.

Nixon And 1960

By Raymond Moley

Since the election I have spent several days in the West and Midwest and find that the most commonly asked question is, "Who will be nominated in 1960?"

This involves — as always in so long a period before the event—a good deal of useless and futile speculation.

As far as the most frequently mentioned name is concerned on the Republican side, Vice President Nixon, the answer might be: "Will a Republican nomination that year be worth having?"

But since off-year elections in the past have almost always gone against the party having possession of the White House, it is altogether off the mark to assume that a Republican cannot win.

However, the weaknesses in the Republican party manifested last month are of importance, and since Nixon is the one whose interests are most concerned in eliminating those weaknesses, he becomes the individual charged with the repair job.

AT THE MOMENT, speculation seems to be concentrated on the Rockefeller "threat" to Nixon's chances for the nomination. Some are fond of drawing a parallel between the Nixon candidacy and that of Sen. Taft in 1948 and in 1952.

It is undoubtedly true that there will be efforts to push Rockefeller as a rival to the vice president.

The same interests and individuals will be concerned in such efforts as were active in behalf of Wendell Willkie in 1940 and Dwight Eisenhower in 1952.

Stassen has popped his head out of the rubble of his defeat in Pennsylvania to threaten that he will be a candidate.

He says that he will not be a candidate "in a real sense," but only to hurt Nixon.

Well, Stassen never was a candidate "in a real sense." In 1952 a very wealthy Texan contributed to Stassen's silly quest not because he believed in him, but to hurt Taft.

These stop-Nixon people are mainly what have come to be called "modern" Republicans.

Curiously enough, since they claim to be more "liberal" than the Republican regulars in the Midwest and West, they are concentrated in eastern financial centers; many work in Wall St. and live on Park Ave.

They are well equipped with money, and they receive plenty of support from some big metropolitan newspapers and Madison Ave. publicity firms.

Their tactics follow a pattern. First, they tear down the favorite of the regulars — largely by claiming that he cannot win. Then, with all their power, they build their man as one who is "fresh, progressive and forward-looking."

It was so with the Willkie and Eisenhower blitz. It may be so with Rockefeller, if he does nothing to stop it.

BUT THE PARALLEL between the Nixon cause and that of Taft needs a good deal of qualification. Taft labored indefatigably and was a towering statesman. But he was always hampered by his choice of managers.

They made damaging mistakes, such as the critical moment in the 1952 convention when they sought to hold more members of the Texas delegation than, in fact, they were entitled to claim.

It was that fatal decision, after plenty of others in the weeks before, that turned the tide and lost Taft the nomination.

Nixon's opposition will find that they are dealing with a vastly more astute politician than was Taft.

His choice of managers in earlier campaigns has always been notable. One of his most recent acquisitions has been Robert Finch, who was for some time executive for a remarkably effective group of business leaders in Los Angeles called the Republican Associates.

But the vice president himself is the master strategist with whom his opposition must deal. And he has, in addition to his own native ability, the exalted office of vice president as a forum.

Most important, he is more familiar with the many problems that are scattered over the party organizations in the states.

His comprehension of organizational methods is ample, and he makes no mistake in believing that issues rather than organization win elections. Shaping up and popularizing a party faith and philosophy will be a major task for him.

Finally, he is in a position to encourage the nomination of more attractive candidates for elective offices in the states and congressional districts.

The party needs all three components — better and more efficient organization, good candidates at the local and state levels, and a comprehensive set of policies. These it will be Nixon's destiny to produce in the 18 months ahead.

Odd Facts

During the past year, American's dropped about $1,800 million in coins into vending machines, not counting telephones, parking meters, and service meters—and for these coins they received items ranging from hot coffee, cold drinks, hot soup, cigarettes, and fresh fruit drinks to pocket combs, toothbrushes, handkerchiefs, music, and hot meals.

There are more than 2,400,000 American adults 45 years of age or older now taking educational courses, according to figures issued by the U. S. Office of Education. The total number of adults of all ages now attending classes is eight million.

The median age at which American women marry today is 20.2 years. The average married woman has 2.03 children and the number of women with three or more children has doubled within the last 20 years.

The U. S. president who had the most children was John Tyler —with 14 by two wives.

Police Tag Motorists For Illegal Parking

Police issued a series of tickets early Sunday for motorists who parked their autos against the flow of traffic on grades.

Chief Americo Radeschi said he did not know how many tickets had been issued or the streets where the cars were parked illegally. Some of the cars tagged were parked on Avondale St. and St. Clair Ave., he said.

Many drivers were tagged several months ago for parking against the flow of traffic.

Test On Bullet Shows Cause Of Gun Death

Beaver County District Atty. Richard P. Steward said today that ballistic tests reveal that a 12-year-old Hopewell Township boy, Dan Lee Earlwine, whose body was discovered Nov. 11, did not die from a bullet from his own gun.

He said officers have learned that the youth's death was caused by a 10-year-old boy, whose name was withheld pending further investigation.

It appeared at the time that the shotgun which killed the boy might have been self-inflicted on the supposition that he slipped and fell. But some aspect of the finding left doubt in the officers' minds.

Ballistic tests revealed that the dead boy's gun did not fire the fatal shot. The gun that did fire the shot has been found and the younger boy has admitted the shooting, officers said.

The district attorney said that from the boy's explanation of the shooting, it was accidental and unintentional. He was turned over to W. L. Ambrose, county juvenile officer, who released the boy in the custody of his mother.

At the time of the death, Earlwine had reportedly gone hunting alone with a 20-gauge shotgun. His body was discovered by a neighborhood youth, Jack Shaffer, 16.

Many drivers were tagged several months ago for parking against the flow of traffic.

5 Weekend Mishaps Listed

'Hill Rd.' Crash Injures 9

Nine persons were injured in a three-car collision Saturday afternoon on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." near Mulberry St., one of five accidents reported by police over the weekend.

Drivers of two of the autos involved in the series of mishaps were cited by police. One was fined today in Municipal Court and the other forfeited a bond.

The three-car crash that caused minor injuries to three people in each car and extensive damage to the autos occurred at 4:25 p. m. Saturday, police said.

Officers said a car operated by Earline Fay Reisinger, 18, of 408 Jefferson St., crashed into the stopped auto of Robert Allen Aken, 39, of Grandview Rd., Chester, and shoved it into the halted auto operated by Delmar P. Manning Jr., 1575 Globe St.

Miss Reisinger told police she was traveling about 30 miles an hour and was unable to stop as she descended the grade into the East End. She was fined $10 and costs today by Judge George L. Brokaw for failing to stop within the assured clear distance.

All of the injured were treated at City Hospital and then released.

Manning, his father, Delmar Manning, 58, of Etruria St., a city fireman, and Mildred Brooks, 59, also of Globe St., suffered neck injuries.

Aken, his wife, Ruth, 38, and 5-year-old son Robert Jr. also were treated for neck injuries.

Miss Reisinger was treated for contusions of the knee and head while Everett Cochran, 12, of 408 Jefferson St. received contusions and abrasions of the knees and elbow and Jack Cochran, 11, of the same address suffered abrasions and contusions of the knees and head.

Police said the car operated by Miss Reisinger was owned by Wayne Cochran, 408 Jefferson St. The entire front end of the 1952 sedan was damaged.

The front and rear bumpers, parking light, trunk, gas tank and tail lights of Aken's 1958 sedan were damaged. Manning's 1954 coupe received damage to its rear fenders, trunk and rear bumper, the officers said.

John W. Howell, 37, of 207 Walnut St. forfeited $21 on a reckless driving charge after his car skidded into a parked car Saturday afternoon on Thompson Ave.

Police said Howell made a right turn from Blakeley St. onto Thompson Ave. and skidded into the parked car of Robert R. Hill, 177 Pennsylvania Ave., knocking it up onto the sidewalk.

The front bumper and fender of Howell's car was damaged while the damage to the Hill auto included front tire, wheel, fender, grill and headlight, police said.

A crash at 3:40 p. m. Saturday at W. 6th St. and Dresden Ave. involved cars operated by Ina Warren, 1352 Etruria St., and Raymond L. Huston, 56, of R. D. 2. Both were making left turns from Dresden Ave. onto 6th St. when the collision occured, police said. There was minor damage to both autos.

A minor collision Saturday at W. 6th St. and Peach Alley damaged the right side of a station wagon driven by Nan G. Gerace, 34, of 201½ Ravine St., police said.

According to police, the station wagon was struck by a car driven by Robert Ed Adkins, 1041 Bradshaw Ave., who was attempting to pull into the line of traffic. There was no damage to the Adkins' auto, officers said.

ground, beneath the frost line, so it will not be any detriment to continued normal use of the land it crosses, he said.

Henry said the initial stretch of pipe line will end at Youngstown, but there has been discussion of extending it to Warren and possibly to Ashtabula.

Henry is a coal broker. However, he said his concern will be a transportation operation, shipping coal from mine to factory. It will have no direct financial interest in the fuel, he said.

There has been some discussion of a two-way line, but no decision has been made, Henry said. Asked about the route, Henry said no definite decision has been made.

Henry's announcement comes on the eve of an expected fight in Ohio Legislature's 1959 session over renewal of plans for a "rubber railroad" between East Liverpool and Lake Erie for transshipment of coal and iron ore between river and lake ports.

The project was proposed nearly 8 years ago by Riverlake Conveyor Lines, Inc., but it never has been able to acquire the right of eminent domain from the Legislature, assuring it the right to obtain property by court action, where necessary.

Traffic

sideswiped cars driven by Howard Adrian, 51, of R. D. 3 and Bernadine Akkerman, 30, of Akron.

Allen Campbell, 18, of Alliance R. D. 3 was arrested for driving left of center after his car veered off Lake Placentia Rd. Saturday and struck an embankment.

Mary Morris, 16, of Alliance, a passenger with Campbell, was admitted to Alliance City Hospital with a fractured pelvis. Officers said Campbell lost control on the slippery pavement and the car swerved off the road. The mishap occurred about two miles south of Westfield.

Officers are still investigating a collision on Route 46 near East Palestine Friday night involving a dairy truck and a car.

The patrol said the auto driven by Alma Danch, 35, of Enon Valley, Pa., skidded into a bridge and then swerved headon into the path of the dairy truck driven by John Elliott, 34, of Salem.

The woman, along with a passenger, Laura Wonner, 59, of Petersburg, suffered fractured ribs, officers reported. The woman returned to Pennsylvania, but the patrol has impounded her auto.

Woman Driver Cited After Route 7 Crash

A Wellsville woman was cited for passing without the assured clear distance after her car sideswiped another on Route 7 about two miles north of Stratton Saturday at 1:05 p. m.

Mrs. Martha H. Braden, 33, of 429 18th St. sideswiped the car of William R. Carpenter, 18, of Toronto R. D. 2, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Mrs. Braden was passing an unidentified parked vehicle, officers said. She will receive a hearing Tuesday at 5 p. m. before Judge Helen Huntsman of Toronto.

Chester Woman Cited After Traffic Mishap

A Chester woman was cited early Sunday morning for leaving the scene of an accident after a parked auto was struck on Carolina Ave., Chester, while an East Liverpool area man reported his car damaged by a hit-skip driver earlier, Chester police said.

Mrs. William Parker of Phoenix Ave., Chester posted a $30.50 bond for a hearing Tuesday night before Mayor Burton Ward for leaving the scene of a mishap.

Special Officer Audley Campbell said Mrs. Parker's 1955 sedan sideswiped a 1957 auto owned by Mrs. Lucy Register of Alley E while the auto was parked along Carolina Ave. near 4th St. Sunday at 12:45 a. m.

Campbell, who was at the City Hall, heard the noise of the crash, and saw Mrs. Parker's car headed west on Carolina Ave. He followed her car to 1st St. and stopped her. She advised him she did not realize she had struck a car. Damage to the Register auto was minor, the officer said.

Campbell said he was at the City Hall at that time making out an accident report involving damage to a 1955 sedan of Roy Perkins of Westfield Rd., who said his auto was hit by an unidentified motorist on W. Carolina Ave. about 11:30 p. m. Saturday.

5 Weekend Mishaps Listed

'Hill Rd.' Crash Injures 9

Nine persons were injured in a three-car collision Saturday afternoon on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." near Mulberry St., one of five accidents reported by police over the weekend.

Drivers of two of the autos involved in the series of mishaps were cited by police. One was fined today in Municipal Court and the other forfeited a bond.

The three-car crash that caused minor injuries to three people in each car and extensive damage to the autos occurred at 4:25 p. m. Saturday, police said.

Officers said a car operated by Earline Fay Reisinger, 18, of 408 Jefferson St., crashed into the stopped auto of Robert Allen Aken, 39, of Grandview Rd., Chester, and shoved it into the halted auto operated by Delmar P. Manning Jr., 1575 Globe St.

Miss Reisinger told police she was traveling about 30 miles an hour and was unable to stop as she descended the grade into the East End. She was fined $10 and costs today by Judge George L. Brokaw for failing to stop within the assured clear distance.

All of the injured were treated at City Hospital and then released.

Manning, his father, Delmar Manning, 58, of Etruria St., a city fireman, and Mildred Brooks, 59, also of Globe St., suffered neck injuries.

Aken, his wife, Ruth, 38, and 5-year-old son Robert Jr. also were treated for neck injuries.

Miss Reisinger was treated for contusions of the knee and head while Everett Cochran, 12, of 408 Jefferson St. received contusions and abrasions of the knees and elbow and Jack Cochran, 11, of the same address suffered abrasions and contusions of the knees and head.

Police said the car operated by Miss Reisinger was owned by Wayne Cochran, 408 Jefferson St. The entire front end of the 1952 sedan was damaged.

The front and rear bumpers, parking light, trunk, gas tank and tail lights of Aken's 1958 sedan were damaged. Manning's 1954 coupe received damage to its rear fenders, trunk and rear bumper, the officers said.

John W. Howell, 37, of 207 Walnut St. forfeited $21 on a reckless driving charge after his car skided into a parked car Saturday afternoon on Thompson Ave.

Police said Howell made a right turn from Blakeley St. onto Thompson Ave. and skidded into the parked car of Robert R. Hill, 177 Pennsylvania Ave., knocking it up onto the sidewalk.

The front bumper and fender of Howell's car was damaged while the damage to the Hill auto included front tire, wheel, fender, grill and headlight, police said.

A crash at 3:40 p. m. Saturday at W. 6th St. and Dresden Ave. involved cars operated by Ina Warren, 1352 Etruria St., and Raymond L. Huston, 56, of R. D. 2. Both were making left turns from Dresden Ave. onto 6th St. when the collision occured, police said. There was minor damage to both autos.

A minor collision Saturday at W. 6th St. and Peach Alley damaged the right side of a station wagon driven by Nan G. Gerace, 34, of 201½ Ravine St., police said.

According to police, the station wagon was struck by a car driven by Robert Ed Adkins, 1041 Bradshaw Ave., who was attempting to pull into the line of traffic. There was no damage to the Adkins' auto, officers said.

ground, beneath the frost line, so it will not be any detriment to continued normal use of the land it crosses, he said.

Henry said the initial stretch of pipe line will end at Youngstown, but there has been discussion of extending it to Warren and possibly to Ashtabula.

Henry is a coal broker. However, he said his concern will be a transportation operation, shipping coal from mine to factory. It will have no direct financial interest in the fuel, he said.

There has been some discussion of a two-way line, but no decision has been made, Henry said. Asked about the route, Henry said no definite decision has been made.

Henry's announcement comes on the eve of an expected fight in Ohio Legislature's 1959 session over renewal of plans for a "rubber railroad" between East Liverpool and Lake Erie for transshipment of coal and iron ore between river and lake ports.

The project was proposed nearly 8 years ago by Riverlake Conveyor Lines, Inc., but it never has been able to acquire the right of eminent domain from the Legislature, assuring it the right to obtain property by court action, where necessary.

Traffic

sideswiped cars driven by Howard Adrian, 51, of R. D. 3 and Bernadine Akkerman, 30, of Akron.

Allen Campbell, 18, of Alliance R. D. 3 was arrested for driving left of center after his car veered off Lake Placentia Rd. Saturday and struck an embankment.

Mary Morris, 16, of Alliance, a passenger with Campbell, was admitted to Alliance City Hospital with a fractured pelvis. Officers said Campbell lost control on the slippery pavement and the car swerved off the road. The mishap occurred about two miles south of Westfield.

Officers are still investigating a collision on Route 46 near East Palestine Friday night involving a dairy truck and a car.

The patrol said the auto driven by Alma Danch, 35, of Enon Valley, Pa., skidded into a bridge and then swerved headon into the path of the dairy truck driven by John Elliott, 34, of Salem.

The woman, along with a passenger, Laura Wonner, 59, of Petersburg, suffered fractured ribs, officers reported. The woman returned to Pennsylvania, but the patrol has impounded her auto.

Woman Driver Cited After Route 7 Crash

A Wellsville woman was cited for passing without the assured clear distance after her car sideswiped another on Route 7 about two miles north of Stratton Saturday at 1:05 p. m.

Mrs. Martha H. Braden, 33, of 429 18th St. sideswiped the car of William R. Carpenter, 18, of Toronto R. D. 2, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Mrs. Braden was passing an unidentified parked vehicle, officers said. She will receive a hearing Tuesday at 5 p. m. before Judge Helen Huntsman of Toronto.

Chester Woman Cited After Traffic Mishap

A Chester woman was cited early Sunday morning for leaving the scene of an accident after a parked auto was struck on Carolina Ave., Chester, while an East Liverpool area man reported his car damaged by a hit-skip driver earlier, Chester police said.

Mrs. William Parker of Phoenix Ave., Chester posted a $30.50 bond for a hearing Tuesday night before Mayor Burton Ward for leaving the scene of a mishap.

Special Officer Audley Campbell said Mrs. Parker's 1955 sedan sideswiped a 1957 auto owned by Mrs. Lucy Register of Alley E while the auto was parked along Carolina Ave. near 4th St. Sunday at 12:45 a. m.

Campbell, who was at the City Hall, heard the noise of the crash, and saw Mrs. Parker's car headed west on Carolina Ave. He followed her car to 1st St. and stopped her. She advised him she did not realize she had struck a car. Damage to the Register auto was minor, the officer said.

Campbell said he was at the City Hall at that time making out an accident report involving damage to a 1955 sedan of Roy Perkins of Westfield Rd., who said his auto was hit by an unidentified motorist on W. Carolina Ave. about 11:30 p. m. Saturday.

Perkins estimated damage to his car at $100.

Fr. Robert Moorhead Honored On 30 Years' Service As Priest

Many parishioners of St. Aloysius Catholic Church attended a reception for Fr. Robert G. Moorhead, pastor, in observance of his 30 years in the priesthood Sunday at the St. Aloysius school.

The celebration began with a Solemn High Mass at the Church at noon, with Fr. Moorhead as the celebrant, Fr. Thomas Mulhearn, an assistant of the church, as deacon, and Fr. Lawrence Krum of Cincinnati, a classmate of Fr. Moorhead, as sub-deacon.

The St. Aloysius Choir sang under the direction of Fr. Anthony Esposito, an assistant pastor at the church. Mrs. James O'Reilly was organist.

Fr. William Lawler, pastor of the Wellsville Immaculate Conception Church, delivered the sermon.

At 7 p. m., a program was presented in the auditorium of the school by the children of the St. Aloysius School under the supervision of the nuns. The theme was "Singarama Holiday." Mrs. O'Reilly was accompanist.

Following the program, a public reception was held downstairs from 8:30 to 11 p. m.

In the afternoon, Fr. Moorhead received guests from Youngstown, Warren and Hubbard.

Fr. Moorhead, a pastor here for six years, was ordained June 2, 1928, in the Cleveland Diocese and then became assistant pastor at St. Mary's Church in Akron for 14 years.

He then was pastor at Wellsville Immaculate Conception Church for four years before becoming pastor of a parish in Hubbard for six years. He then was assigned to St. Aloysius Church.

Fr. Mulhearn and Fr. Anthony Esposito were in charge of the affair.

Investigation Launched Into Man's Gun Death

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP) — The mystery began when a small boy saw an automobile about 125 feet into a field about 10 a. m. Saturday. Inside a man was slumped on the seat.

There was a bullet hole in the left rear door of Ryen's car, and another in the left front door. And there was a bullet hole in Ryen's head.

He died Sunday in Citizens Hospital after surgery. He was never conscious.

Detectives theorized that Ryen had been held up, tried to escape and was hit by one of two shots the robber fired at him.

Investigation Launched Into Man's Gun Death

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP) — The mystery began when a small boy saw an automobile about 125 feet into a field about 10 a. m. Saturday. Inside a man was slumped on the seat.

There was a bullet hole in the left rear door of Ryen's car, and another in the left front door. And there was a bullet hole in Ryen's head.

He died Sunday in Citizens Hospital after surgery. He was never conscious.

Detectives theorized that Ryen had been held up, tried to escape and was hit by one of two shots the robber fired at him.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: I'm going to be completely honest with you because I need a direct answer. It isn't pretty but here goes.

I'm 34 years old but could pass for a lot younger (and do). At 18 I married a fellow I knew only a few weeks. The war was on and everyone was living from day to day.

He was shipped overseas and in two months I got that telegram with the black edge. I'd be lying if I said I felt bad. I hardly knew him. I was his legal widow and got $10,000.

I bought a little restaurant in New Orleans and it went over big. Then I married a guy I knew was mixed up with the rackets. He died of a heart attack two years ago and left me plenty.

Now I've fallen in love for the first time in my life. The kid looks like Marlon Brando only better. He's wonderful to me. The trouble is he's 20 years old. He thinks I'm 24. He won't have to go into the service because he has an aluminum plate in his head. Do you think this could work?—MIN.

If the kid has an aluminum plate in his head it's more than you've got in yours.

The 14 years you've got on this child might as well be 100. Your two marriages plus the life you've led puts you in different worlds and you know it.

A boy 20 should be dating girls 17. Throw this fish back in the brook — he's not even legal.

Back To History

Dear Ann: Can you bring us parents up to date on a problem?

My child came home from school today half an hour late. I learned the entire seventh grade was kept after school because one pupil whispered and the teacher could not find out who it was.

This is a medieval practice — punishing the whole group for the wrongdoing of one. Such foolishness should have been thrown out of the public school system years ago.

Will you print this letter and explain why such nonsense is tolerated in this day and age?—J.O.N.

I do not agree this practice is "medieval foolishness." There's a very important principle involved.

The student who whispered knew very well he was guilty. Others in the class knew it, too. Those who refused to inform demonstrated strength of character.

A room of seventh graders who would remain silent and take punishment rather than inform on a classmate is to be admired.

In most instances the whisperer would have come forth rather than suffer the disapproval of his classmates. But rest assured the coward paid a good price for his silence.

Those seventh graders put into practice a very precious principle. They were saying in effect, "I will tell you anything you want to know about me but I refuse to snitch on anyone else."

Friendly Reminder

Dear Ann: I'm ashamed to discuss this with anyone I know. It's my husband. He's turned into a check-dodger and I don't know what to do about it.

When we go out for dinner or an after-the-movie-snack with other couples, he manages never to pick up the check.

I've see him leave for the men's room when he spotted the waiter approaching with the check in his hand.

We aren't hard up for money and I'm sure others in the crowd must think we're terribly cheap. What do you suggest? — BLUSHING.

Since your husband seems to have trouble finding his pockets I suggest you step in and help him. Next time say in a loud voice, "It's our turn, Dear." Then take the check from the waiter and hand it to him. Couples who go out together often should take turns. Keep track for him.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-address envelope.

Santa and the ELF BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

(The cobbler has sent Esteban to deliver a pair of slippers to the Castle on the Hill. In the toe of one slipper he finds a strange note. He rushes back to the cobbler's shop.)

CHAPTER FOUR

"What?", cried the cobbler when Esteban burst into the shop. "Could you not even deliver the slippers to the Castle on the Hill?"

"Look!" cried Esteban. "Look at what I found in the shoe!"

He held out the slip of paper. The cobbler put on his reading glasses and peered at the note. "If you believe in fairies, help me before it is too late!" he read.

Then he shook his head angrily. "What is this nonsense?"

"It was in the shoe," said Esteban. "A message in the shoe!"

THE COBBLER took the red velvet slipper embroidered with gold. "My boy," he said sadly, "I am an old man and you have bothered me all day long. Please go away now and never come here again."

"But the message?" gasped Esteban. "What . . ."

"When I repaired these shoes," said the cobbler, tearing up the slip of paper, "I found no message there."

"It was in the toe. You couldn't have felt it," cried Esteban. "What shall we do?"

"Do nothing," snapped the cobbler.

"Don't you believe in fairies?" cried Esteban.

"Stop bothering me!" shouted the cobbler. And with that he pushed Esteban into the street and slammed the door.

"WHAT CAN it mean?" wondered Esteban. "A child sent the note, for the slippers were small and narrow and scarcely fit on my hands."

The little blue bird stirred inside Esteban's shirt and the boy thought, "Should I send the bird for Santa? But suppose it is all a joke. They'd call me a fool. I must find out what it is myself."

He went straight to a peanut vendor on the street corner. He said, "Can you tell me where to find the Castle on the Hill?"

"Certainly," said the peanut vendor. "That's Professor Szpilki's castle. Look yonder, you can see the windows even from here."

While Esteban looked, the sun sinking in the west was reflected in the windows and they turned red as though the castle had burst into flames.

Esteban furiously pounded against the castle doors.

"That's a scary looking place," said Esteban with a shiver.

"It is indeed," said the peddler. "They say that Professor Szpilki is out of his head since the loss of his wife. You take my advice and stay away from there."

BUT WHEN the peddler had gone Esteban turned and went straight toward the castle. By the time he reached the bottom of the hill it was night and all he could see of the castle was a single lighted window.

Although the night had been calm, there now came a mighty wind and a downpour of freezing rain.

Suddenly there was a flash of lightning and the whole castle stood clear and bright with the door right in front of Esteban. He threw himself against the door and pounded with his fists.

For a long time there was no answer and then there was an awful crash. The one light in the castle went out, and the door slowly opened.

Ohioan Who Faces Life Term Near Death Following Illness

CLEVELAND (AP)—Instead of starting a life term in Ohio Penitentiary today for second-degree murder, John N. Ross, 33, is in Cleveland Metropolitan Hospital near death from pneumonia and malnutrition.

His wife, Jean, 30, said delay in obtaining medical or psychiatric treatment for him at county jail was due to negligence.

The jail physician, Dr. Clayton C. Matowitz, said:

"Ross told me two weeks ago he wasn't going to go to the penitentiary. He's been going progressively down hill ever since. . . whatever caused it, he did it himself."

Mrs. Ross said her husband's normal weight of 155 pounds had dropped off by 40 pounds since he was convicted Oct. 28 of shooting Russell R. Caputo, 38, after a drinking party. In defense it was testified Caputo had made improper advances to Mrs. Ross; but the prosecution disputed this.

Matowitz agreed that Ross was refusing food. The doctor said:

"He would eat eggs and some other things, but not near as much as was given to him. He was also taking voluntarily a liquid vitamin preparation."

Early Sunday Ross was removed unconscious from the jail to the hospital where he was placed in an oxygen tent and fed artificially.

Alexander Harmon, hospital director, said the prisoner suffered from pneumonia, malnutrition and dehydration and that his survival was "a case of touch and go."

Dr. Matowitz said he suggested to Sheriff Joseph M. Sweeney Friday that Ross be taken to Lima State Hospital for the criminal insane. Matowitz said he saw Ross Friday morning and "didn't find his condition was critical (or) I would certainly have ordered him taken to the hospital then."

Pickets Shut Down Mill In Pittsburgh District

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Picketing by employes of the raw coil department today halted operations for the second straight day at the big Irvin Works of U.S. Steel Corp. in nearby West Mifflin.

About 400 members of United Steelworkers Local 2227 walked off the job early Sunday in a seniority dispute. They claimed the firm failed to follow seniority provisions in recalling some furloughed workers. The company had no comment.

Donald C. Rarick, president of Local 2227, said the strike was not authorized by the union.

He said the remainder of the plant's 3,500 employes refused to cross the picket lines.

No meetings have been scheduled between the strikers and the company.

Santa and the ELF BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

(The cobbler has sent Esteban to deliver a pair of slippers to the Castle on the Hill. In the toe of one slipper he finds a strange note. He rushes back to the cobbler's shop.)

CHAPTER FOUR

"What?", cried the cobbler when Esteban burst into the shop. "Could you not even deliver the slippers to the Castle on the Hill?"

"Look!" cried Esteban. "Look at what I found in the shoe!"

He held out the slip of paper. The cobbler put on his reading glasses and peered at the note. "If you believe in fairies, help me before it is too late!" he read.

Then he shook his head angrily. "What is this nonsense?"

"It was in the shoe," said Esteban. "A message in the shoe!"

THE COBBLER took the red velvet slipper embroidered with gold. "My boy," he said sadly, "I am an old man and you have bothered me all day long. Please go away now and never come here again."

"But the message?" gasped Esteban. "What . . ."

"When I repaired these shoes," said the cobbler, tearing up the slip of paper, "I found no message there."

"It was in the toe. You couldn't have felt it," cried Esteban. "What shall we do?"

"Do nothing," snapped the cobbler.

"Don't you believe in fairies?" cried Esteban.

"Stop bothering me!" shouted the cobbler. And with that he pushed Esteban into the street and slammed the door.

"WHAT CAN it mean?" wondered Esteban. "A child sent the note, for the slippers were small and narrow and scarcely fit on my hands."

The little blue bird stirred inside Esteban's shirt and the boy thought, "Should I send the bird for Santa? But suppose it is all a joke. They'd call me a fool. I must find out what it is myself."

He went straight to a peanut vendor on the street corner. He said, "Can you tell me where to find the Castle on the Hill?"

"Certainly," said the peanut vendor. "That's Professor Szpilki's castle. Look yonder, you can see the windows even from here."

Ex-President Has Big Lead In Venezuela

Bentancourt And Leftist Party Run Well Ahead In Vote

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — After 10 years of exile and outlayry, ex-President Romulo Bentancourt and his leftist Democratic Action party held a big lead today in returns from Venezuela's first free election since the overthrow of dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez.

With more than a fifth of the votes counted, unofficial returns from the voting Sunday gave Betancourt 302,368, Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal 226,633 and Rafael Caldera 134,770.

Larrazabal, 47, was head of the junta which ruled the country after the ouster of Perez Jimenez last January. He was the candidate of the Democratic Republican Union and also accepted the Communist party's indorsement.

Caldera, 42, a lawyer and labor expert, leads the Christian Socialist party (Copei).

"Someone might suggest that domestic industry in such a situation should transfer their operations to a low wage country. That might be a solution, but in so doing they would be by-passing their American employes and the hundreds of suppliers of services and materials, such as raw materials, office and shipping supplies, transportation, fuel and power, who are dependent upon American manufacturers.

"Furthermore, it is very unlikely, from what has been observed, that many of the small companies who are being injured by imports have the resources necessary to invest in a foreign operation.

"Any program, no matter how well intentioned, that endeavors to make foreign investment more attractive tax-wise or by other inducements is in effect inviting American industry to escape from the high cost of production in this country and thereby is chiseling away at the very roots of our economy.

"It is recognized that many American companies have set up manufacturing operations overseas as a branch or an affiliate of the home operations to facilitate their foreign trade, but our belief is that sooner or later they will turn to producing low-cost products for the United States market where they can be sold at a substantial margin below our prices, thus having the effect of forcing down domestic production in those lines."

Chamber Begins Plans For Meeting

The annual membership meeting of the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce has been set tentatively for either Jan. 8 or 15, depending on which date a speaker can be obtained.

They will be mailed following the meeting of the Board of Directors Wednesday night at 8 at the Central Federal Savings & Loan Association, when the nominating committee will present a slate of candidates.

The ballots are due back to the board 10 days prior to the membership meeting.

This will be the first year for the mail vote. Previously the election was conducted during the membership meeting. Paul Katz is president.

Chemical Engineers Name Michigan Man New Head

CINCINNATI (AP)—Donald L. Katz, a University of Michigan professor and consultant on oil and natural gas well problems, is the new president of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

The election—by mail ballot earlier this year—was announced at today's session of the institute's 51st annual conference.

Katz, who heads the chemical and metallurgical engineering department at Michigan, has written more than 100 technical papers plus a recent handbook on natural gas engineering.

At the opening session, the placement director at Northwestern University said his studies show salesmen gradually inch past engineers in pay but it takes about 10 years to do it.

Dr. F. S. Endicott said engineer graduates next June can expect an average salary of $480 monthly compared to $420 for business grads. But in 10 years, business graduates move ahead, $866 to $788 on the average.

Dr. Endicott said the reason is probably that business offers more executive jobs to salesmen and accountants than to engineers.

He said that during the business recession earlier this year, demand for engineers fell off only moderately.

He said, "companies that a year ago had five or six jobs to offer, had only one or two during the recession."

At the same session, C. Y. Thomas, an executive of a Kansas City, Kans., chemical firm, urged the institute to aid other engineer groups in creating a national organization to assure professional standards in engineering and give engineers a more prominent status.

The institute conference continues through Wednesday.

"Someone might suggest that domestic industry in such a situation should transfer their operations to a low wage country. That might be a solution, but in so doing they would be by-passing their American employes and the hundreds of suppliers of services and materials, such as raw materials, office and shipping supplies, transportation, fuel and power, who are dependent upon American manufacturers.

"Furthermore, it is very unlikely, from what has been observed, that many of the small companies who are being injured by imports have the resources necessary to invest in a foreign operation.

"Any program, no matter how well intentioned, that endeavors to make foreign investment more attractive tax-wise or by other inducements is in effect inviting American industry to escape from the high cost of production in this country and thereby is chiseling away at the very roots of our economy.

"It is recognized that many American companies have set up manufacturing operations overseas as a branch or an affiliate of the home operations to facilitate their foreign trade, but our belief is that sooner or later they will turn to producing low-cost products for the United States market where they can be sold at a substantial margin below our prices, thus having the effect of forcing down domestic production in those lines."

Chamber Begins Plans For Meeting

The annual membership meeting of the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce has been set tentatively for either Jan. 8 or 15, depending on which date a speaker can be obtained.

The names of four new directors will be announced at the meeting. Ballots will be mailed the membership preceding the meeting.

They will be mailed following the meeting of the Board of Directors Wednesday night at 8 at the Central Federal Savings & Loan Association, when the nominating committee will present a slate of candidates.

The ballots are due back to the board 10 days prior to the membership meeting.

This will be the first year for the mail vote. Previously the election was conducted during the membership meeting. Paul Katz is president.

Chemical Engineers Name Michigan Man New Head

CINCINNATI (AP)—Donald L. Katz, a University of Michigan professor and consultant on oil and natural gas well problems, is the new president of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

The election—by mail ballot earlier this year—was announced at today's session of the institute's 51st annual conference.

Katz, who heads the chemical and metallurgical engineering department at Michigan, has written more than 100 technical papers plus a recent handbook on natural gas engineering.

At the opening session, the placement director at Northwestern University said his studies show salesmen gradually inch past engineers in pay but it takes about 10 years to do it.

Dr. F. S. Endicott said engineer graduates next June can expect an average salary of $480 monthly compared to $420 for business grads. But in 10 years, business graduates move ahead, $866 to $788 on the average.

Dr. Endicott said the reason is probably that business offers more executive jobs to salesmen and accountants than to engineers.

He said that during the business recession earlier this year, demand for engineers fell off only moderately.

He said, "companies that a year ago had five or six jobs to offer, had only one or two during the recession."

At the same session, C. Y. Thomas, an executive of a Kansas City, Kans., chemical firm, urged the institute to aid other engineer groups in creating a national organization to assure professional standards in engineering and give engineers a more prominent status.

The institute conference continues through Wednesday.

Bits Of This And That About Homes

By ANDREW C. LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Bits of information of interest to the home owner:

Scientists at the University of Arizona are testing a new concept in residential heating and cooling, using a copper roof to collect heat from the sun to warm the house in the winter and utilizing the same roof to reject heat from the interior of the house for summer cooling.

The best time to check a house for possible termite infestation is after a stretch of heavy rains. A high fidelity pioneer, R. T. Bozark, predicts that the average American home to be built in the next three years will be designed to use hi-fi stereophonic equipment in the same manner as air conditioning is now planned.

Under the Federal Housing Administration's new minimum property standards, to become effective next spring, a minimum lot size no longer is specified.

While most of the conventional glues should be used when the temperature in the work area is above 70 degrees, Fahrenheit, a casein glue will stand up well even when applied during near - freezing temperatures.

A new type of aluminum siding has a factory - attached fiber glass insulation blanket. When refinishing furniture with paint or enamel, it is not always necessary to remove all of the original finish; take off just enough to get a good smooth base for the paint or enamel.

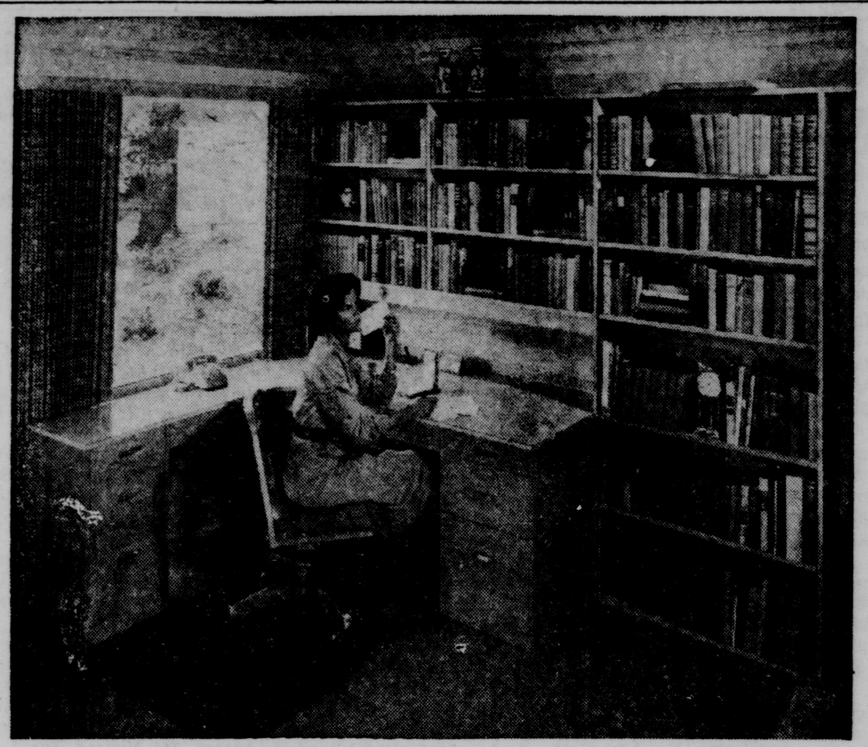
Whether you use a chemical remover or plain water, a simple and inexpensive way to soften wallpaper for removal is to apply the liquid with a large brush. The latest authoritative estimate on the numbers of home workshops in the United States: 14 million.

In the constant struggle of home builders to keep down construction costs, much attention is now being given to the results of field surveys showing considerable savings in prefabricated plumbing assemblies, holding on - the - job labor to a minimum.

The "danger" spots of your home, as far as protection from the elements is concerned, are the sills, thresholds, porch floors and steps, joints of porch railings and palings, edges of eaves, flashings, roof gutters and downspouts.

The recommendation of a power tool manufacturer on what type and size of motor to use should take precedence over the advice of any individual.

Most manufacturers of portable jigsaws now are making special tables so the saws can be attached upside down.



RECORD-KEEPING CHORES can be a pleasure when you work in an inviting atmosphere. This cheery home office has been paneled in horizontally installed west coast hemlock, and a built-in corner desk was constructed of the same materials. Bookshelves lining the wall above and to the side of the desk are of sturdy Douglas fir, finished naturally with clear lacquer, as are the desk and wall paneling.

'Home Office' Should Be In Room By Self

It Will Help Greatly In Handling Of Your Many Odds, Ends

PORTLAND, Ore. — Where's the dentist's statement for last month? How much do we still owe on the vacuum cleaner? Does our auto insurance cover that? Can you remember our plumber's name? What happened to the Christmas card list?

Questions like these are being asked in millions of homes around the nation. In many cases, they will be greeted by silence because the answers long ago have found their way into the waste basket or been carelessly filed among the tea napkins where they won't be unearthed for many moons.

With so many important odds and ends to watch in today's pattern of living, homeowners no longer can trust to luck. They need properly-outfitted office space right in the home where all the big business of homemaking can be transacted without fuss and fuming.

Ideally, the home office should be a separate room of the home, a modern counterpart of the 19th-century library where children are banned and weary adults can creep for a few moments' retreat. When a separate study is impossible, a corner of the living room, bedroom or family room can be requisitioned and outfitted to meet the need.

Their size will depend upon whether they are to be used soley for reference books or whether they are also to house the family library.

Since, even in the case of the separate room, space is usually at a premium, built-in furniture is the favorite, for it guarantees the fullest use of available space.

The desk, for example, can be built underneath a window or into an odd corner where standard furniture won't fit gracefully. Bookshelves can be built round and about into all the empty wall area over and adjacent to the desk.

Desk, shelving and additional cabinetry can be easily tailored from a strong, durable wood like Douglas fir or west coast hemlock.

Because this area should be made as conducive to concentration as possible, clear, natural finish for the wood is preferred over bright paints. Both fir and hemlock have soft, shell beige coloring which is easy on the eyes and makes for distinctive decor.

To make the study corner beautifully inviting and warm, walls should be paneled with natural, vertical grain fir or hemlock to match the built-ins. Vertically installed paneling will heighten a low ceiling, while installing the panels horizontally gives sweeping form to a wall.

Light Up For Christmas!

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

One of the joys of Christmas is the lovely lighting — in church, outdoors, in the home.

Through the years the possibilities for unusual lighting arrangements has grown, what with outdoor lights with weatherproof plug-in outlets, and safety lights indoors.

Lights are employed to achieve enchanting effects at doors and windows. Even on the table new ideas for centerpieces are suggested by lighting experts.

One captivating unit for small fry may be assembled to show Santa's helpers at the North Pole. Mountains and base are made of styrofoam and happy elves and wheelbarrow are placed around the "snow." Behind one mountain and hidden is a string of C-7½ red lamps.

Another effect may be achieved by creating a manger scene with inexpensive figures, concealing a couple of C-7½-inch white Christmas lamps in the roof of the manger.

A couple of Christmas trees fastened to the styrofoam base adds to the effect of the design, along with small stars fastened to the backdrop.

The styrofoam is handy too in creating wall plaques. One such unit was a jolly snow man with a red hat, nose, eyebrows, mouth, tie and button, using materials that are at hand and mounting D-25 and D-26 lamps in the rear of the snow man.

You can have a real whirl at the door, sending your imagination into orbit to achieve spectacular Yuletide effects.

A pair of angels may have their wings brightened with lamps in the D-14 size. On either side of the door aluminum foil may be crushed and worked into a border into which may be buried star reflectors and lamps. These same star reflectors may be used across the roof to carry out the heavenly idea.

One chic and unusual door decoration may be made merely by criss - crossing pieces of soft pine until you have a tree shape. Start with a 3-inch cross bar, all of ¾-inch pine.

Nail the strips 3 inches apart on a strip of wood about 48 inches long. It will take about 12 strips. Lights should be on either end of the cross bars and spaced evenly apart.

String sets may be stapled or "ad-on" type sockets may be wire-taped to the undersides of each "branch." It's a good idea to paint the wood before you start the wiring.

If you plan to outline a tree with lights, plan on at least one light per square foot.

Multiply the height of the tree by its width (at the bottom of the tree) by 1½. For example: A 6x4 foot tree needs 36 lights to outline it properly. If you'd achieve solid mass lighting, double that number, but don't exceed it. Too many lights may be an eyesore.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I clean ivory articles?

A. They will turn yellow if washed in hot water. Wash with warm, soapy water, then wipe dry as quickly as possible. Rub occasionally with flannel moistened with denatured alcohol, and dipped in powdered whiting that has been sifted through cheesecloth.

Q. How can I remove the shells from hard - boiled eggs easily?

A. By cracking the egg firmly on the table, then rolling it back and forth a few times. The shell will almost fall off, and the egg will be perfectly smooth.

Q. How can I give a better luster to windows when cleaning them?

Cigarettes Lacked One Thing–Tobacco

BALTIMORE (AP) — In the harbor area, a fellow who said he was a Norwegian seaman produced some beautiful cigarettes without tax stamps and sold them for $1.50 a carton.

He let on they were American factory - made of a familiar brand retailing for $2.50 a carton. They were round and firm, neatly packaged inside foil, printed wrapper and cellophane.

But the five persons who bought a carton found out they lacked one thing. They were filled with ship's waste.

Bear Trap Blamed

GLEN WILTON, Va. (AP) — A makeshift bear trap was blamed for the death here of C. W. Thomas, a Botetcourt county farmer. Coroner E. B. Morgan said Thomas, whose crops had been damaged by bears, rigged up a rifle and attached a wire to its trigger. He tripped on the wire when going to inspect his trap.

Glass Bricks' Use Eased

By ANDREW C. LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The manufacturers of glass blocks had a difficult time getting the public to accept their products for do-it-yourself projects because of the necessity of using mortar in the joints.

There was a general recognition that proper mortaring required a certain amount of skill to avoid a homemade look.

Part of this reluctance was overcome with the development of new methods of constructing glass block panels without the use of mortar, especially the system of wooden strips and wedges.

Now comes a still newer method, calling for the glass blocks to be bolted together and said to be less expensive and easier to handle.

It must be emphasized that this setup — as with all other mortarless systems — should be used indoors only. For an outside, weatherproof wall, the glass blocks still must be mortared together.

To make one, you must, of course, first determine the size you want it to be. But it should be an approximate size, subject to a slight change in plans so that you can use an exact number of glass blocks of either the 8-inch or 12-inch size.

After that comes the construction of a wooden frame in which the blocks will be installed. One-by-6-inch stock is preferable, with quarter - round molding nailed into position seven-eights of an inch from the edge of one side of the frame. The rest of the molding is nailed on after the glass blocks are put in place.

From there on it's just a case of building rows of blocks, placing the specially-made bolt assembly into the corners of the joints. This assembly consists of small aluminum rods and threaded plastic rosettes. All that can be seen are the decorative rosettes.

Combined with clear glass block, they give color styling wherever used. Four colors — green, blue, coral and yellow — are available. Incidentally, when these blocks are used for an exterior wall, mortared together, their insulation value is said to be equal to that of an 8-inch masonry wall.

SIMPLIFIED INSTALLATION is the latest development in glass blocks. This panel was erected with a new method in which blocks are bolted together, avoiding use of mortar. The method should be used indoors only, however.

Zone Heating Plan Advised

Problems Created By New-Type Home

Split level homes present special heat distribution problems, especially for the room which is located at ground level.

Rambling ranch type houses that spread over a wide area will have different temperature requirements in various sections and may present some difficulties.

Rooms over a garage usually require extra heat and finished basements need heat when in use.

Living and sleeping areas require different temperatures.

Because of the problems involved in heating some of these newer styles in houses, it is well to get the advice of a heating contractor while the house is still in the blueprint stage.

An experienced heating contractor will know how zoning can be used to overcome the problems created by glass areas, split levels and other new ideas in construction.

By means of zone control, the house can be divided into sections with a thermostat in each zone, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau advises.

While every new house should be zoned while under construction, zoning is also entirely feasible for an existing house. In fact, zoning offers one of the most practical means of improving the performance of a heating system.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Teach Child To Make Friends Of His 'Foes'

You want your little child to play with other children. However, it will take time to cultivate safety habits in him and to teach him to to protect his rights among these other children. A mother writes from New Mexico about her son, 2: "He loves to play with other children, although he plays very well by himself, too, in our big fenced-in back yard.

By Garry Meyers

"The problem is this. He's always asking to go out front — where we have no fence — when he sees the other boys, age 1, 2, or older, out playing. When I have time, I take him out myself and let him play, and all is well.

"BUT occasionally I let him go out front alone, as long as I can see him and know where he is. But as soon as he goes out alone, the two other boys immediately start hitting him or trying to take his toys away from him. This makes me so mad I can't see straight.

"Should I let him go out front only when I'm with him, or is there any way I can teach him to defend himself against these other boys? Their mothers can't do anything with them.

"Also, it is common practice in this neighborhood for all the children to take home other children's toys. I have to lock the house every time I leave it to keep these two neighbor boys from coming in and carrying off my son's toys. Now, when my little boy and I go to a neighbor's house, he wants to drag home their toys.

"How can I keep from seeming like an old 'witch' when I won't let him bring home other children's toys?"

—:—

THIS WAS my reply, in part: Don't be too optimistic about letting your child go outside without pretty careful supervision.

In the first place, he needs careful training to keep out of the street. Also, you hardly can train him to defend himself and his possessions by mere talk. You must guide him in hundreds of specific situations.

For the present, neglect less important matters. Spend more time attracting those neighbor youngsters, to your house and fenced-in yard. See that they respect your child's rights and possessions and he theirs.

Hold them strictly to some desirable rules. Send them away when they violate these rules, but strive to be so skillful that they will choose to come back.

Have no qualms about forbidding your child to bring home toys of these neighbor children.

As you see these neighbor children acting better, be generous with praise to them and to their parents about them.

My bulletin, "Your Child And His Playmates" and "First Steps in Training Tot In Safety," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

The combined state police forces in the United States today total almost 22,000 men.

Store Staffs Get Pay Hike

Agreement Covers Loblaw Employes

Ninety-five employes of the two local Loblaw supermarkets are covered by a new one-year contract granting wage increases and other benefits which was ratified by Local 590, Food Employes Union, at Pittsburgh Sunday.

Meanwhile, truckers of Teamsters Local 377 at Youngstown still are on strike against the chain stores.

The contract provides male workers a 14-cent hourly increase, 12 cents for women and 14 cents for extra helpers. The raises are retroactive to Dec. 1. Present pay scales were not made known.

The Bradshaw Ave. store here employs 60 and the Dresden Ave. store employs 35.

The new agreement also provides a seventh paid holiday and other benefits. It covers 1,000 workers in the 38 Loblaw markets in the Pittsburgh district.

Both local stores are being picketed by members of the teamster union. The pickets have parked a car in each of the lots at the stores and placed signs in the windows to notify the public of the strike.

The teamsters' strike started Saturday following union rejection of a three-year wage agreement providing annual increases of 14, 12 and 10 cents an hour. The stores in this area are supplied from the Youngstown warehouse.

The contract provides male workers a 14-cent hourly increase, 12 cents for women and 14 cents for extra helpers. The raises are retroactive to Dec. 1. Present pay scales were not made known.

The Bradshaw Ave. store here employs 60 and the Dresden Ave. store employs 35.

The new agreement also provides a seventh paid holiday and other benefits. It covers 1,000 workers in the 38 Loblaw markets in the Pittsburgh district.

Both local stores are being picketed by members of the teamster union. The pickets have parked a car in each of the lots at the stores and placed signs in the windows to notify the public of the strike.

The teamsters' strike started Saturday following union rejection of a three-year wage agreement providing annual increases of 14, 12 and 10 cents an hour. The stores in this area are supplied from the Youngstown warehouse.

Lake Shipping Hits Low For Last 19 Years

Recession In Steel Industry Brings Big Decline In Trade

CLEVELAND (AP) — A few hardy vessels challenged rugged weather and ice on the Great Lakes today. But most of the fresh-water fleet swung at winter moorings after the poorest shipping season in 19 years.

Recession in the steel industry lowered demand for the lakes' major commodities—iron ore, coal and limestone. Eight per cent of the ore used by America's steel mills is transported by the Great Lakes' fleet.

As steel production climbed slowly from the recession low of April there was some improvement in lakes' shipping, but not much.

Many ships never sailed. Some vessels didn't get into commission until late in the season. During the fall only 180 ships of the 250 in the fleet were in operation.

By the end of November iron ore shipments had dropped more than 31 million tons behind 1957, the American Iron Ore Assn. reported. At that time ore shipments from U. S. docks totaled slightly more than 50 million tons.

It was estimated that the season's total would fall below 55 million tons, the lowest since 1939.

A prediction by steel manufacturers for brisk business during the winter months—when the lakes are frozen shut—has brightened prospects for the 1959 shipping season.

However, blast furnaces must take a huge bite of the ore piled at docks and steel mills. On Nov. 1 stockpiles were estimated at 71 million tons of ore. That's three million tons more than a year ago and far above the average of previous years.

As the steel industry showed some recovery from recession during the fall, ships slated for early winter layup kept operating.

Pittsburgh Steamship Division of United States Steel Corp. expected to have only 10 of its 57-ship fleet still in commission by Nov. 14. But 16 vessels were hauling ore to meet last-minute demand.

Pittsburgh, largest fleet on the lakes, started the season six weeks behind the usual early April opening of navigation. Twenty of its ships were kept tied up during the season.

Still plying the lakes, the U. S. Coast Guard reported, are a few tankers and some grain carriers.

By mid-December the locks at Sault Ste. Marie will be closed and the great waterway linking the Lake Superior mining country with the lower lakes' region will be closed until spring.

Design Error Delays Pontiff's Gold Crown

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII is going to have to wait awhile for the new gold crown citizens of his native Bergamo province are giving him. A mistake was made in the design.

The crown was to have been presented today.

It was not disclosed just what was wrong with the design. The crown is made of 500 grams of gold, decorated with amethysts, emeralds, coral and chiseled figures of saints, martyrs and other religious figures. Artist Attilio Nani made it on commission from the Bergamo provincial government.

Reports Required On Farm Earnings

The Wheeling Social Security office issued a reminder today that reports must be filed by Jan. 31, 1959, by employers of farm help on the amount of cash wages paid farm workers during 1958.

The reports must be filed with the district director of Internal Revenue by all farmers who employ workers whose employment meets the definition of "agricultural labor" set forth under the Social Security law.

Three tests may be applied to determine if a farm worker is covered by the law: No. 1, all agricultural workers who were paid $150 or more in cash wages during 1958; No. 2, workers who perform agricultural labor for one employer on 20 or more days during the year for an amount computed on time basis, and No. 3, domestic service performed in the private home of an employer. If the service is performed on a farm operated for profit, the domestic employe is considered an agricultural worker and must meet the conditions of Test 1 or 2.

'Wide Open,' Truman Says Of 1960 Race

Former President To 'Keep Hands Off' In Democratic Duel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said today the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination contest is so wide open at this time he hasn't any idea who the winner will be.

Truman, who backed Gov. Averell Harriman of New York for the 1956 nomination which went to Adlai E. Stevenson, said he is keeping hands off in the scramble at this point.

"We have got a lot of good young men in the party who would make fine candidates, and I don't want to do anything to hurt the chances of any of them," Truman said in an interview.

While Truman's support is not likely to be decisive, the former President's backing might provide the impetus needed for one of several individual aspirants to forge ahead in what now appears likely to be a closely bunched field of contenders in 1960.

The prospect that several may arrive at the July 1960 convention with about equal strength revived speculation at weekend Democratic meetings here of the possibility of a third nomination for Stevenson.

Stevenson himself merely repeated his recent statement that he won't be the nominee. And Jacob M. Arvey, Illinois national committeeman, said he thinks the party's 1952 and 1956 standard bearer would be a "very reluctant dragon" so far as a third race is concerned.

Nevertheless, Arvey said he is not ruling out the possibility the convention might turn to Stevenson if several rounds of balloting should indicate a deadlock.

However, Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky, himself a candidate for the 1960 nomination, said he doesn't believe the convention will nominate a man who has lost two elections.

Woman Dies At 104

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 104-year old, former Massachusetts school teacher died in a nursing home here Sunday. She was Miss Lucia N. Jennison, a native of Norton, in Delaware County, Ohio, and daughter of a Union volunteer in the Civil War. She grew up with an aunt and uncle in Templeton, Mass., and taught art in public schools of Worcester and Cambridge, Mass., for a half century. Eight years ago she moved from Templeton to suburban Lakewood where she lived with a nephew and niece until her last illness.

The Atomic Age is considered to have began July 16, 1945, when the first man-made atomic explosion occurred in the desert of New Mexico.

Lake Shipping Hits Low For Last 19 Years

Recession In Steel Industry Brings Big Decline In Trade

CLEVELAND (AP) — A few hardy vessels challenged rugged weather and ice on the Great Lakes today. But most of the fresh-water fleet swung at winter moorings after the poorest shipping season in 19 years.

Recession in the steel industry lowered demand for the lakes' major commodities—iron ore, coal and limestone. Eight per cent of the ore used by America's steel mills is transported by the Great Lakes' fleet.

As steel production climbed slowly from the recession low of April there was some improvement in lakes' shipping, but not much.

Many ships never sailed. Some vessels didn't get into commission until late in the season. During the fall only 180 ships of the 250 in the fleet were in operation.

By the end of November iron ore shipments had dropped more than 31 million tons behind 1957, the American Iron Ore Assn. reported. At that time ore shipments from U. S. docks totaled slightly more than 50 million tons.

It was estimated that the season's total would fall below 55 million tons, the lowest since 1939.

A prediction by steel manufacturers for brisk business during the winter months—when the lakes are frozen shut—has brightened prospects for the 1959 shipping season.

However, blast furnaces must take a huge bite of the ore piled at docks and steel mills. On Nov. 1 stockpiles were estimated at 71 million tons of ore. That's three million tons more than a year ago and far above the average of previous years.

As the steel industry showed some recovery from recession during the fall, ships slated for early winter layup kept operating.

Pittsburgh Steamship Division of United States Steel Corp. expected to have only 10 of its 57-ship fleet still in commission by Nov. 14. But 16 vessels were hauling ore to meet last-minute demand.

Pittsburgh, largest fleet on the lakes, started the season six weeks behind the usual early April opening of navigation. Twenty of its ships were kept tied up during the season.

Still plying the lakes, the U. S. Coast Guard reported, are a few tankers and some grain carriers.

By mid-December the locks at Sault Ste. Marie will be closed and the great waterway linking the Lake Superior mining country with the lower lakes' region will be closed until spring.

Design Error Delays Pontiff's Gold Crown

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII is going to have to wait awhile for the new gold crown citizens of his native Bergamo province are giving him. A mistake was made in the design.

The crown was to have been presented today.

It was not disclosed just what was wrong with the design. The crown is made of 500 grams of gold, decorated with amethysts, emeralds, coral and chiseled figures of saints, martyrs and other religious figures. Artist Attilio Nani made it on commission from the Bergamo provincial government.

Reports Required On Farm Earnings

The Wheeling Social Security office issued a reminder today that reports must be filed by Jan. 31, 1959, by employers of farm help on the amount of cash wages paid farm workers during 1958.

The reports must be filed with the district director of Internal Revenue by all farmers who employ workers whose employment meets the definition of "agricultural labor" set forth under the Social Security law.

Three tests may be applied to determine if a farm worker is covered by the law: No. 1, all agricultural workers who were paid $150 or more in cash wages during 1958; No. 2, workers who perform agricultural labor for one employer on 20 or more days during the year for an amount computed on time basis, and No. 3, domestic service performed in the private home of an employer. If the service is performed on a farm operated for profit, the domestic employe is considered an agricultural worker and must meet the conditions of Test 1 or 2.

'Wide Open,' Truman Says Of 1960 Race

Former President To 'Keep Hands Off' In Democratic Duel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said today the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination contest is so wide open at this time he hasn't any idea who the winner will be.

Truman, who backed Gov. Averell Harriman of New York for the 1956 nomination which went to Adlai E. Stevenson, said he is keeping hands off in the scramble at this point.

"We have got a lot of good young men in the party who would make fine candidates, and I don't want to do anything to hurt the chances of any of them," Truman said in an interview.

While Truman's support is not likely to be decisive, the former President's backing might provide the impetus needed for one of several individual aspirants to forge ahead in what now appears likely to be a closely bunched field of contenders in 1960.

The prospect that several may arrive at the July 1960 convention with about equal strength revived speculation at weekend Democratic meetings here of the possibility of a third nomination for Stevenson.

Stevenson himself merely repeated his recent statement that he won't be the nominee. And Jacob M. Arvey, Illinois national committeeman, said he thinks the party's 1952 and 1956 standard bearer would be a "very reluctant dragon" so far as a third race is concerned.

Nevertheless, Arvey said he is not ruling out the possibility the convention might turn to Stevenson if several rounds of balloting should indicate a deadlock.

However, Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky, himself a candidate for the 1960 nomination, said he doesn't believe the convention will nominate a man who has lost two elections.

"Stevenson can't win," Chandler said.

Industry Continues Drive To Increase Productivity

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Getting more goods for less work has long been an American goal. It is increasingly pressing in today's mounting costs and rising prices.

Many manufacturers and service firms try for it by upgrading their plant and machinery, by getting a mechanism to do what used to take elbow grease.

Many try for it by enlisting employe enthusiasm through letting them share in the profits. Theoretically at least, the more the workers produce, the greater the profits to share after the goods are sold and the books balanced. The Council of Profit Sharing Industries estimates that 20,000 employers have some such program affecting perhaps two million workers.

Many firms try for increased productivity by tying the wage itself directly to increases in output per man hour of labor. Increase your productivity above what is determined to be the norm and your take home pay goes up accordingly.

How effective have these wage incentive plans been in increasing productivity, in cutting unit labor costs for industry, increasing the earnings for employes?

To find out, a study was made of 2,500 such wage incentive plans in 29 different industries as set up by 17 management consulting firms, three fourths of them since 1948. Just completed by the George Elliott Co., New York consulting firm, reports productivity rose by anywhere from 39 to 100 per cent, with an average of 63.55 per cent.

Companies using these plans cut unit labor costs by anywhere from 9 to 59 per cent for an average saving of 25.91 per cent.

Workers under the plans found take home pay higher by anywhere from 9 to 39 per cent for an average of 20.6 per cent.

Wage incentive plans were set up by the consultants in this fashion:

Base work measurements through time studies or predetermined time systems set performance standards considered acceptable by managements and the unions for employes to be able to earn their base rate of pay. Then incentive bonuses were offered for extra productivity above the determined standard performance.

Some standards were updated from time to time to take into account changes in methods, equipment or products.

The survey reveals the dollar and cents value to the firms adopting them: for every 1 per cent increase in wages earned by the worker, the companies on average increased productivity by 3.1 per cent and cut unit costs 1.25 per cent.

Quarter Ends Up In Boy Instead Of Collection

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Eight-year-old James Boyer caused excitement Sunday with his quarter for the Sunday school collection. On the way to church James half-swallowed the coin and began choking.

An ambulance picked him up and on the way to a hospital ran over a bump. James completed the swallowing. He was unharmed.

Union Fight Goes On

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Directors of Teamsters Local 377 have asked James R. Hoffa, international president of the union, to appoint a trustee to handle the local's affairs. The board also at a Saturday night meeting refused to accept a resignation from Joseph Blumetti, who is scheduled to appear before the U. S. Senate Rackets Investigation Committee in Washington this week. There is a battle on for control of the union between Blumetti and the local's secretary-treasurer, John J. Angelo.

De Gaulle Jolts Algerian Hopes

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIERS (AP)—French Premier Charles de Gaulle has put another damper on the hopes of French extremists in Algeria who have called for the territory's speedy integration with France.

Ending a five-day tour of Algeria and the Sahara, De Gaulle called Sunday night for the realization of "liberty, happiness and dignity" for Algeria's nine million Moslems before any political settlement.

In a recorded three-minute speech broadcast as he left by plane for Paris, he also avoided saying he will integrate Algeria politically and economically with France.

"Every man and every woman here should have their liberty, their happiness and their dignity," the Premier said.

"As this is being done, we will see much better revealed the living personality of Algeria on the one hand, and on the other the nature of things which unite it with France.

"It is when this is done that the so-called political solution will appear, practically and reasonably."

His remarks indicate he intends to go ahead with his ambitious five-year social and economic development plan before trying to solve Algeria's political problems.

De Gaulle's tour of the new Sahara oil and natural gas fields brought to light new estimates of their recoverable reserves, which now are expected to supply France with vital fuel for 80 years.

France at present consumes about 25 million tons of oil yearly.

By 1962 Sahara fields and the Gabon fields in Equatorial Africa are expected to produce 40 million tons of crude oil yearly.

Industry Continues Drive To Increase Productivity

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Getting more goods for less work has long been an American goal. It is increasingly pressing in today's mounting costs and rising prices.

Many manufacturers and service firms try for it by upgrading their plant and machinery, by getting a mechanism to do what used to take elbow grease.

Many try for it by enlisting employe enthusiasm through letting them share in the profits. Theoretically at least, the more the workers produce, the greater the profits to share after the goods are sold and the books balanced. The Council of Profit Sharing Industries estimates that 20,000 employers have some such program affecting perhaps two million workers.

Many firms try for increased productivity by tying the wage itself directly to increases in output per man hour of labor. Increase your productivity above what is determined to be the norm and your take home pay goes up accordingly.

How effective have these wage incentive plans been in increasing productivity, in cutting unit labor costs for industry, increasing the earnings for employes?

To find out, a study was made of 2,500 such wage incentive plans in 29 different industries as set up by 17 management consulting firms, three fourths of them since 1948. Just completed by the George Elliott Co., New York consulting firm, reports productivity rose by anywhere from 39 to 100 per cent, with an average of 63.55 per cent.

Companies using these plans cut unit labor costs by anywhere from 9 to 59 per cent for an average saving of 25.91 per cent.

Workers under the plans found take home pay higher by anywhere from 9 to 39 per cent for an average of 20.6 per cent.

Wage incentive plans were set up by the consultants in this fashion:

Base work measurements through time studies or predetermined time systems set performance standards considered acceptable by managements and the unions for employes to be able to earn their base rate of pay. Then incentive bonuses were offered for extra productivity above the determined standard performance.

Some standards were updated from time to time to take into account changes in methods, equipment or products.

The survey reveals the dollar and cents value to the firms adopting them: for every 1 per cent increase in wages earned by the worker, the companies on average increased productivity by 3.1 per cent and cut unit costs 1.25 per cent.

Quarter Ends Up In Boy Instead Of Collection

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Eight-year-old James Boyer caused excitement Sunday with his quarter for the Sunday school collection. On the way to church James half-swallowed the coin and began choking.

Union Fight Goes On

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Directors of Teamsters Local 377 have asked James R. Hoffa, international president of the union, to appoint a trustee to handle the local's affairs. The board also at a Saturday night meeting refused to accept a resignation from Joseph Blumetti, who is scheduled to appear before the U. S. Senate Rackets Investigation Committee in Washington this week. There is a battle on for control of the union between Blumetti and the local's secretary-treasurer, John J. Angelo.

De Gaulle Jolts Algerian Hopes

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIERS (AP)—French Premier Charles de Gaulle has put another damper on the hopes of French extremists in Algeria who have called for the territory's speedy integration with France.

Ending a five-day tour of Algeria and the Sahara, De Gaulle called Sunday night for the realization of "liberty, happiness and dignity" for Algeria's nine million Moslems before any political settlement.

In a recorded three-minute speech broadcast as he left by plane for Paris, he also avoided saying he will integrate Algeria politically and economically with France.

"Every man and every woman here should have their liberty, their happiness and their dignity," the Premier said.

"As this is being done, we will see much better revealed the living personality of Algeria on the one hand, and on the other the nature of things which unite it with France.

"It is when this is done that the so-called political solution will appear, practically and reasonably."

His remarks indicate he intends to go ahead with his ambitious five-year social and economic development plan before trying to solve Algeria's political problems.

De Gaulle's tour of the new Sahara oil and natural gas fields brought to light new estimates of their recoverable reserves, which now are expected to supply France with vital fuel for 80 years.

France at present consumes about 25 million tons of oil yearly.

By 1962 Sahara fields and the Gabon fields in Equatorial Africa are expected to produce 40 million tons of crude oil yearly.

East Liverpool Edged By Alliance, 46-45, In Final Minute

Local Cagers Beaten After Staging Rally

By CHUCK CRONIN

East Liverpool's aroused Potters, waging an uphill fight all the way, lost a squeaker at Alliance Saturday night, 46-45, after staging a whirlwind finish that just missed bringing a dramatic victory.

Coach John Karaffa's Potters made a determined bid to push to the front in the remaining seconds, but failed to connect on a pair of foul shots and two field goal attempts.

THUS, THE Potters swing into their second week of basketball smarting from two straight defeats. But if Saturday night's second half was any indication of things to come, Karaffa's young club could be more successful this weekend in games with Warren and Wellsville.

East Liverpool had a very cold first half Saturday, but finished strong after Bob Mackall, 5-11 junior, entered the game midway in the second quarter.

Mackall chalked up eight field goals and a foul shot for 17 points and game point honors. Twelve of his points came in the torrid second half,, which saw the Potters roar back from a seven-point deficit and deadlock the score with 34 seconds left in the third period.

After that, it was nip-and-tuck all the way and only failure to connect on free throw attempts kept the Blue and White from going to the front to stay.

SATURDAY night's first half was as cold as the weather outside for both teams, but momentum picked up after half-time and continued at a feverish pitch. Three players — two from Alliance and a Potter — were ejected from the game for rough playing in the second half.

Potter center Clark Hager was the first to leave at 2:27 in the third period. He was followed quickly by Alliance center Roy Allen, a 6-1 senior who was a crack end on the Aviators' state champion football team.

Allen kept Alliance in the game in the first half, cleverly drawing a rash of foul shots, and his departure made things somewhat easier for the Potters.

Allen finished with 10 points, but Bob Wallace, a 6-3½ sophomore forward, took point honors for Alliance with 13. However, it was Mainwaring, son of Alliance's mayor, who put the skids to the Potter rally in the second half.

He got only one point in the first half, but dumped in 10 in the final two quarters, including the game-winning bucket in the waning seconds. Wallace was the other Alliance player ejected. He left the game with 1:29 remaining in the final quarter.

BEHIND Mackall in scoring for the Potters came senior forward Jan Allen with four fielders and one of two fouls for nine. Allen failed to score in the first half.

It was Allen who Karaffa called on in the final nine seconds for one last shot that might have given the Potters a hard-fought victory. Trailing 46-45, the Potters took the ball out of bounds at mid-court in hopes of giving Allen one final shot from the outside.

He fired up a field goal attempt in the last nine seconds, but the ball rolled off the hoop. Bob Beatty rebounded, tried another shot and missed as the final gun sounded.

As is the case so often in present-day basketball, East Liverpool lost the game at the foul line. The Potters had an 18-16 edge in field goals, but hit only 9 of 24 free throws. Alliance connected on 14 of 26.

Shooting percentages of each team from the field weren't outstanding either. The Potters made 18 of 63 for 29 per cent and Alliance 16 of 60 for 27 per cent.

The Blue and White's three outside shooters — Ken Cunningham, Phil Chan and Allen — had off nights, while Ray Bigelow and Beatty, the two big men up front, also couldn't quite find the range.

ALTHOUGH scoring only three field goals for six points, Bigelow turned in an outstanding defensive job for the Potters. The 6-5 junior nearly controlled rebounding on both boards and was a scrappy performer the entire game.

Karaffa, in comment after the game, said he would emphasize foul shooting this week in view of the last two defeats.

It was the season's first victory for Alliance, which lost its opener last week to Akron North. Coach Ron Teeling's starting five Saturday night included two rangy sophomores, two seniors and a junior.

Doug Duncan, 6-3½ sophomore forward, scored 10 points, and teamed with Wallace to give Alliance a formidable offensive attack. Duncan tallied 22 points against Akron North.

East Liverpool's poor first quarter, in which only four points were scored, helped Alliance move out to an early lead.

After the first eight minutes of play, the Potters showed only a field goal by Bigelow and free throws by Ken Cunningham and Jim Mahone. Alliance led 10-4 at the first quarter and 20-13 at half-time.

THE THIRD quarter found the Potter attack getting warmer as Mackall flipped in five field goals, Allen two and Beatty, Bigelow and Hager each one. The quarter ended with Alliance on top 38-36.

Bigelow controlled the opening fourth quarter tip and immediately connected on a push shot to tie the score at 38-38. After two more ties, the Potters went to the front, 44-43, on Jan Allen's jump shot with 1:37 left in the game.

Allen hit on one shot of a two-shot technical foul to give the Potters a 45-43 lead. Duncan's foul shot for Alliance cut the margin to one point, 45-44.

With 58 seconds left, Mainwaring took a pass on the far sidelines, fired up a long push shot and connected to put Alliance ahead, 46-45. On the next attack by the Potters, Mackall was fouled and was awarded two free throws. He missed both, however. Mainwaring also received a foul shot in the dying moments and also failed to connect for Alliance.

Browns And Giants Win To Set Stage For Battle

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's the Giants' defensive unit Brown has to beat Sunday in New York's Yankee Stadium if Cleveland is to add to its string of Eastern Conference titles in the National Football League.

Cleveland defeated Philadelphia 21-14 Sunday, clinching at least a tie for the championship, while the runner-up Giants stayed alive with a 19-17 victory at Detroit.

That leaves the Browns (9-2) with a one-game lead over New York (8-3). A tie or victory in the regular season finale Sunday gives Cleveland the title.

If a playoff is needed it will be staged in New York Dec. 21. The Eastern winner meets the Baltimore Colts, Western Conference champions, for the NFL title the following Sunday in the Eastern entry's park.

The Colts dropped a 30-28 decision although Baltimore quarterback Johnny Unitas pitched three touchdown passes and set an NFL record. It was the 24th consecutive game in which Unitas had passed for a TD, breaking the mark set by Green Bay's Cecil Isbell in 1942 with 23.

In other games, the Chicago Bears beat the Chicago Cardinals 30-14, San Francisco ripped Green Bay 48-21 and Pittsburgh came off with a 14-14 tie against Washington.

Quarterback Milt Plum was the big man for the Browns, scoring twice and then throwing a 48-yard strike to Ray Renfro for the TD that broke a 14-14 tie in the third period.

While the Eagles were unable to mount any sort of running attack, Jimmy Brown padded his league-leading rushing yardage total with 138 yards in 21 carries for Cleveland.

Norm Van Brocklin was the Eagles' only threat. He completed 15 of 27 passes for 154 yards and one touchdown.

Harland Svare blocked a last-minute, 25-yard field goal attempt to save the Giants' victory after the defending world champion Lions appeared to have the game won.

The Lions had overcome a 12-3 halftime deficit with two quick third periods TDs. In the fourth quarter they tried a fake punt, sending Yale Lary around end on fourth down with 25 yards to go. The Giants stopped him with a yard gain, and five plays later sent Frank Gifford plunging across for the deciding TD.

Reserves Suffer Their First Loss At Alliance, 44-37

Coach Frank Chan's team, hampered by personal fouls and Alliance's tight defense, were off the pace by only a few points throughout the game. It was the first loss for Chan's squad, which defeated the Farrell jayvees Friday.

Junior center Craig Burbick hit for six field goals and a foul for 13 points to spark the attack, but fouled out in the third quarter. Ron Clark finished second to Burbick in point production with nine.

Alliance helped out the Potter cause when one of the Aviator cagers became confused in the final quarter and made a layup in the wrong basket. The Potter reserves had a 15-13 margin in field goals, but Alliance made 18 free throws to 5 by the younger Potters.

Tests Continued In Death Of Boxer

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—An autopsy report Sunday night showed internal injuries did not cause the death of Eshman Thomas, 22, an amateur boxer from Elyria who collapsed and died during a bout here Saturday night.

Dr. William Pittenger, Summit County coroner, said there was no evidence of internal injuries to the body or head and that further laboratory tests would be made today.

Don Hale, president of the Akron Boxing Trainers Assn., said all fighters had been given pre-fight examinations by Dr. Earl Wharton of the Akron Boxing Commission. Hale said neither fighter was struck by a hard blow during the bout, a three-rounder.

Thomas dropped his arms and collapsed and the referee stopped the fight. An ambulance was called but Thomas died en route to a hospital.

His trainer, Harry Day of Elyria, said the unemployed father of four had been training for about a month.

Potter Wrestlers Win First Match

Recording six falls, Coach Lou Venditti's East Liverpool wrestlers successfully opened their season at Brilliant Saturday afternoon by scoring a 39-10 triumph.

The Potter mat squad, which includes four sophomores, dropped only two matches as it began a bid for East Liverpool's ninth consecutive winning season.

Two of the sophomores, Skip Nortrup and John Goodballet were pinned by Brilliant opponents in the first period. In the 112-pound class, Nortrup was felled by Linn at 2:20, while Goodballet was pinned at 1:30.

The three returning regulars from last season — Bill O'Neil, Nick Musuraca and Larry McCullough — all gained triumphs.

McCullough, who wrestles in the 120-pound division, reversed his opponent in the second period and gained a point for riding time to score a 3-0 decision over Tamburra.

O'Neil, who last year competed in the state meet at Cleveland, pinned Hand at 2:50 of the second period.

After McCullough's decision victory, the Potters recorded three straight pins. Senior letterman Harold Walderhaug recorded a fall at 3:53 of the second period over Denhardt in the 127-pound division.

With only four seconds remaining in the match, Bob Springer pinned Brilliant's 138-pounder, John Sterling, giving the Potters a comfortable 23-5 lead after six matches.

Heavyweight Bill McKinnon scored a near-pin in the final period but had to settle for a decision over Wanless of Brilliant.

Local Cagers Beaten After Staging Rally

By CHUCK CRONIN

East Liverpool's aroused Potters, waging an uphill fight all the way, lost a squeaker at Alliance Saturday night, 46-45, after staging a whirlwind finish that just missed bringing a dramatic victory.

Coach John Karaffa's Potters made a determined bid to push to the front in the remaining seconds, but failed to connect on a pair of foul shots and two field goal attempts.

THUS, THE Potters swing into their second week of basketball smarting from two straight defeats. But if Saturday night's second half was any indication of things to come, Karaffa's young club could be more successful this weekend in games with Warren and Wellsville.

East Liverpool had a very cold first half Saturday, but finished strong after Bob Mackall, 5-11 junior, entered the game midway in the second quarter.

Mackall chalked up eight field goals and a foul shot for 17 points and game point honors. Twelve of his points came in the torrid second half,, which saw the Potters roar back from a seven-point deficit and deadlock the score with 34 seconds left in the third period.

After that, it was nip-and-tuck all the way and only failure to connect on free throw attempts kept the Blue and White from going to the front to stay.

SATURDAY night's first half was as cold as the weather outside for both teams, but momentum picked up after half-time and continued at a feverish pitch. Three players — two from Alliance and a Potter — were ejected from the game for rough playing in the second half.

Potter center Clark Hager was the first to leave at 2:27 in the third period. He was followed quickly by Alliance center Roy Allen, a 6-1 senior who was a crack end on the Aviators' state champion football team.

Allen kept Alliance in the game in the first half, cleverly drawing a rash of foul shots, and his departure made things somewhat easier for the Potters.

Allen finished with 10 points, but Bob Wallace, a 6-3½ sophomore forward, took point honors for Alliance with 13. However, it was Mainwaring, son of Alliance's mayor, who put the skids to the Potter rally in the second half.

He got only one point in the first half, but dumped in 10 in the final two quarters, including the game-winning bucket in the waning seconds. Wallace was the other Alliance player ejected. He left the game with 1:29 remaining in the final quarter.

BEHIND Mackall in scoring for the Potters came senior forward Jan Allen with four fielders and one of two fouls for nine. Allen failed to score in the first half.

It was Allen who Karaffa called on in the final nine seconds for one last shot that might have given the Potters a hard-fought victory. Trailing 46-45, the Potters took the ball out of bounds at mid-court in hopes of giving Allen one final shot from the outside.

He fired up a field goal attempt in the last nine seconds, but the ball rolled off the hoop. Bob Beatty rebounded, tried another shot and missed as the final gun sounded.

As is the case so often in present-day basketball, East Liverpool lost the game at the foul line. The Potters had an 18-16 edge in field goals, but hit only 9 of 24 free throws. Alliance connected on 14 of 26.

Shooting percentages of each team from the field weren't outstanding either. The Potters made 18 of 63 for 29 per cent and Alliance 16 of 60 for 27 per cent.

ALTHOUGH scoring only three field goals for six points, Bigelow turned in an outstanding defensive job for the Potters. The 6-5 junior nearly controlled rebounding on both boards and was a scrappy performer the entire game.

Karaffa, in comment after the game, said he would emphasize foul shooting this week in view of the last two defeats.

It was the season's first victory for Alliance, which lost its opener last week to Akron North. Coach Ron Teeling's starting five Saturday night included two rangy sophomores, two seniors and a junior.

After the first eight minutes of play, the Potters showed only a field goal by Bigelow and free throws by Ken Cunningham and Jim Mahone. Alliance led 10-4 at the first quarter and 20-13 at half-time.

THE THIRD quarter found the Potter attack getting warmer as Mackall flipped in five field goals, Allen two and Beatty, Bigelow and Hager each one. The quarter ended with Alliance on top 38-36.

Bigelow controlled the opening fourth quarter tip and immediately connected on a push shot to tie the score at 38-38. After two more ties, the Potters went to the front, 44-43, on Jan Allen's jump shot with 1:37 left in the game.

Allen hit on one shot of a two-shot technical foul to give the Potters a 45-43 lead. Duncan's foul shot for Alliance cut the margin to one point, 45-44.

With 58 seconds left, Mainwaring took a pass on the far sidelines, fired up a long push shot and connected to put Alliance ahead, 46-45. On the next attack by the Potters, Mackall was fouled and was awarded two free throws. He missed both, however. Mainwaring also received a foul shot in the dying moments and also failed to connect for Alliance.

Browns And Giants Win To Set Stage For Battle

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's the Giants' defensive unit Brown has to beat Sunday in New York's Yankee Stadium if Cleveland is to add to its string of Eastern Conference titles in the National Football League.

Cleveland defeated Philadelphia 21-14 Sunday, clinching at least a tie for the championship, while the runner-up Giants stayed alive with a 19-17 victory at Detroit.

That leaves the Browns (9-2) with a one-game lead over New York (8-3). A tie or victory in the regular season finale Sunday gives Cleveland the title.

If a playoff is needed it will be staged in New York Dec. 21. The Eastern winner meets the Baltimore Colts, Western Conference champions, for the NFL title the following Sunday in the Eastern entry's park.

The Colts dropped a 30-28 decision although Baltimore quarterback Johnny Unitas pitched three touchdown passes and set an NFL record. It was the 24th consecutive game in which Unitas had passed for a TD, breaking the mark set by Green Bay's Cecil Isbell in 1942 with 23.

In other games, the Chicago Bears beat the Chicago Cardinals 30-14, San Francisco ripped Green Bay 48-21 and Pittsburgh came off with a 14-14 tie against Washington.

Quarterback Milt Plum was the big man for the Browns, scoring twice and then throwing a 48-yard strike to Ray Renfro for the TD that broke a 14-14 tie in the third period.

While the Eagles were unable to mount any sort of running attack, Jimmy Brown padded his league-leading rushing yardage total with 138 yards in 21 carries for Cleveland.

Norm Van Brocklin was the Eagles' only threat. He completed 15 of 27 passes for 154 yards and one touchdown.

Harland Svare blocked a last-minute, 25-yard field goal attempt to save the Giants' victory after the defending world champion Lions appeared to have the game won.

The Lions had overcome a 12-3 halftime deficit with two quick third periods TDs. In the fourth quarter they tried a fake punt, sending Yale Lary around end on fourth down with 25 yards to go. The Giants stopped him with a yard gain, and five plays later sent Frank Gifford plunging across for the deciding TD.

Reserves Suffer Their First Loss At Alliance, 44-37

Coach Frank Chan's team, hampered by personal fouls and Alliance's tight defense, were off the pace by only a few points throughout the game. It was the first loss for Chan's squad, which defeated the Farrell jayvees Friday.

Junior center Craig Burbick hit for six field goals and a foul for 13 points to spark the attack, but fouled out in the third quarter. Ron Clark finished second to Burbick in point production with nine.

Alliance helped out the Potter cause when one of the Aviator cagers became confused in the final quarter and made a layup in the wrong basket. The Potter reserves had a 15-13 margin in field goals, but Alliance made 18 free throws to 5 by the younger Potters.

Tests Continued In Death Of Boxer

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—An autopsy report Sunday night showed internal injuries did not cause the death of Eshman Thomas, 22, an amateur boxer from Elyria who collapsed and died during a bout here Saturday night.

Dr. William Pittenger, Summit County coroner, said there was no evidence of internal injuries to the body or head and that further laboratory tests would be made today.

Don Hale, president of the Akron Boxing Trainers Assn., said all fighters had been given pre-fight examinations by Dr. Earl Wharton of the Akron Boxing Commission. Hale said neither fighter was struck by a hard blow during the bout, a three-rounder.

Thomas dropped his arms and collapsed and the referee stopped the fight. An ambulance was called but Thomas died en route to a hospital.

His trainer, Harry Day of Elyria, said the unemployed father of four had been training for about a month.

Potter Wrestlers Win First Match

Recording six falls, Coach Lou Venditti's East Liverpool wrestlers successfully opened their season at Brilliant Saturday afternoon by scoring a 39-10 triumph.

The Potter mat squad, which includes four sophomores, dropped only two matches as it began a bid for East Liverpool's ninth consecutive winning season.

Two of the sophomores, Skip Nortrup and John Goodballet were pinned by Brilliant opponents in the first period. In the 112-pound class, Nortrup was felled by Linn at 2:20, while Goodballet was pinned at 1:30.

The three returning regulars from last season — Bill O'Neil, Nick Musuraca and Larry McCullough — all gained triumphs.

McCullough, who wrestles in the 120-pound division, reversed his opponent in the second period and gained a point for riding time to score a 3-0 decision over Tamburra.

O'Neil, who last year competed in the state meet at Cleveland, pinned Hand at 2:50 of the second period.

After McCullough's decision victory, the Potters recorded three straight pins. Senior letterman Harold Walderhaug recorded a fall at 3:53 of the second period over Denhardt in the 127-pound division.

With only four seconds remaining in the match, Bob Springer pinned Brilliant's 138-pounder, John Sterling, giving the Potters a comfortable 23-5 lead after six matches.

Kentucky Five Wins First Two, Faces New Test This Week

West Virginia Cagers Take Third In Row

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kentucky may not have nearly as good a basketball team as when it won the NCAA championship last spring. Four of the five starting players are gone.

But if Coach Adolph Rupp is short of talent, you can bet he aims to find out soon.

He is used to being surrounded by better-than-average basketball players. Left this season with only talented Johnny Cox from the team that gained a surprise victory in the NCAA tournament last March, he has put together a squad that has won its first two games.

Kentucky thumped Florida State 91-68 in its opener and then outscored Temple, one of last season's toughest rivals, 76-71 in the Philadelphia Palestra Saturday.

This week the Wildcats take on a good Duke team at Durham, N.C., tonight, then return home for games against Southern Methodist Thursday and St. Louis Saturday. The three games should be a real test for Kentucky. SMU clouted Iowa 65-55 last Saturday and St. Louis made Ohio State its second victim 77-68.

These are indeed trying — and traveling — times for the teams like Kentucky that have begun to emerge as possible national powers. West Virginia, rated No. 1 last season in The Associated Press poll but an early loser in the NCAA playoffs, Kansas, Kansas State, Cincinnati, Northwestern, North Carolina State, Tennessee and a few others have been and will be scattering their appearances all over the map. Not until after the Christmas holidays will most of them settle down to serious conference competition.

West Virginia's Mountaineers, who have managed to keep Coach Fred Schaus jittery while winning three games, the latest a 78-63 decision over Penn State, take on The Citadel, Duke and Virginia. Kansas State, 82-79 overtime winner over Indiana, heads a three-pronged Big Eight invasion of the Pacific Coast. Tennessee, a tournament winner already, faces a rugged Wake Forest team that carried N.C. State to two overtimes before losing 56-52.

Nats Knock Celtics From First Place

By The Associated Press

The Syracuse Nationals took a bow today for bouncing the Boston Celtics out of first place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn.

In a home-and-home weekend series, the Nats whipped the Celtics 101-92 at Boston Saturday and then repeated Sunday night with a 108-104 victory.

As the result, the New York Knickerbockers, who were idle Sunday after losing 99-92 to Detroit Saturday, took over first place by a half-game margin over the Celtics.

Syracuse's two victories moved the Nats into a third place tie in the division with the Philadelphia Warriors.

The Warriors dropped a 107-97 game to the St. Louis Hawks Saturday, then trounced Cincinnati 103-90 in Sunday's televised game. Cincinnati won Saturday, downing Minneapolis 132-128 in three overtimes.

Larry Costello was the big gun in the Nats' Sunday triumph over the Celtics. He went on a final period scoring spree, collecting six points in a space of 50 seconds to break a 94-94 tie. Costello ended with 23 points, one less than teammate Johnny Kerr.

The new Greenville, S. C., Memorial Auditorium seats 5,481 for basketball. It is being used by Furman this season.

Seven Ohio College Fives Bow To Out-Of-State Foes

By HAL PARIS

Seven Buckeye teams suffered setbacks at the hands of out-of-state opponents Saturday, including Ohio State, still looking for that elusive first triumph.

Only Dayton, Steubenville, Ohio U. and Western Reserve, all expected to win, were able to come away victorious in interstate play.

The top surprise and most important score of the night was Miami's 59-58 win over highly-touted Bowling Green. The Falcons, pre-season favorite to dethrone Miami from its hold on the Mid-American Conference crown, were colder than the weather hitting only 25 per cent of their shots. Bowling Green's nifty guard, Jim Darrow, led all scorers with 22 points.

A hot-shooting St. Louis team ran away from Ohio State in the second half to hang a 77-68 loss on Coach Fred Taylor's Bucks. Ohio dropped its season opener Wednesday at Pittsburgh.

Ohio U. established a new school scoring record with a whopping 118-69 pasting of Morris Harvey of West Virginia. The Bobcats' old mark was 116 set last year against Western Michigan. Dave Scott chipped in 24 points.

Steubenville ran its victory string to 26 and its home court consecutive successes to 54 with a 78 - 40 win over West Liberty, W. Va.

In probably the longest game of the night, Fenn nipped Kenyon 45-42 in a marathon struggle that went through four overtimes. Dennis Beharman scored the winning layup for the Cleveland school.

One streak was shattered when Westminster came from 10 points back to trim Akron 65-60 and thus end the Zips' string of 14 straight home floor victories.

Kent State dropped two games over the weekend as host to the first Midwestern Invitation Basketball Tourney. Kent lost to Wyoming 76-67 Friday and dropped the consolation tipp to Michigan, 83-55. Tennessee copped the tourney.

Fairmont West Back 'Outstanding' Gridder

CHARLESTON (AP) — Fairmont West halfback Larry Drake was named West Virginia's most outstanding high school football player for 1958 by the committee selecting the Kennedy Award winner.

Drake, who scored 191 points to lead the Polar Bears to 10 consecutive victories, became the 11th back selected for the honor, which likewise is 11 years old.

He will be honored next month in Huntington at the Victory Awards Dinner of the West Virginia Sports Writers Assn.

The Air Force Academy football team may never have giant tackles because entrance restrictions are 6-feet-4 and 216 pounds.

Qualifying Continues At Bowling Tourney

CHICAGO (AP) — A 200-average bowler couldn't even make the semi-finals as the World's Invitational Tournament moved into the final day of qualifying for match play finals in the Chicago Coliseum.

Eddie Lubanski, 28, Detroit, won qualifying laurels as he finished with a total of 5,161 pins for 24 games. This gave him a 19-pin bulge on defending champion Don Carter of St. Louis who is automatically seeded into the finals.

Dick Hoover of Akron, Ohio, the former all-star and two-time Masters champion, finished with 5,130 for third place.

The women's division was paced by defending champion Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., who had a total of 3,439 pins. Mrs. Ladewig, like Carter, is exempt from qualifying.

Mrs. Ladewig's was five pins ahead of the 3,434 shot by Jere Price of Fort Worth, Tex. in the 16-game qualifying trials.

The third woman was national all-star champion Merle Matthews of Long Beach, Calif., with 3,230.

Teams Begin Practice For Bowl Battles

By The Associated Press

The only thing left of the 1958 college football season today is the postseason bowls. The last six diehards wrote finis to the regular schedule Saturday.

The first of the larger bowls is on tap this Saturday when Oklahoma State and Florida State inaugurate the Blue Grass Bowl in Louisville before a national television audience.

Big Ten champ Iowa begins looking for a way to stop quarterback Joe Kapp of California in the Rose Bowl. Texas Christian Coach Abe Martin has warned his Horned Frogs that they must solve the passing of Richie Mayo if they want to beat Air Force in the Cotton Bow.

Syracuse will work in its gym until it leaves for North Carolina State this weekend to continue drills for the Orange Bowl game against Oklahoma. Excessive snow on the upstate New York campus has brought unrealistic playing conditions.

The University of Hawaii, which opened the regular season on Sept. 13 with a 51-0 loss to Kentucky, finished the campaign on a similar note, losing 47-20 to Utah Saturday.

Arizona State (Flagstaff) defeated Gustavus Adolphus 41-12 and will meet Northeast Oklahoma in the Holiday Bowl Dec. 20 in St. Petersburg. The Okies qualified for the NAIA attraction by defeating St. Benedicts of Kansas 19-14.

At Natchitochee, La., Northwest Louisiana State won the Christmas Festival Bowl with an 18-11 victory over Sam Houston State.

Salineville's Cagers Lose

Salineville High School's Indians dropped their second basketball game in as many starts this season when Jefferson Union raced to an early lead and was never headed in triumphing, 60-54, Saturday night at the Jefferson County school.

Coach Dick Jones' Indians lost their first game last week to United, while Jefferson Union opened its season Saturday night.

After an 8-8 tie early in the first quarter, Jefferson Union went on top and had a 16-point margin at one point in the third quarter.

Salineville managed to narrow the gap to only six points in the final period, but didn't have enough time to jump into the lead. Rich Dunlap lead Salineville scoring with 17 points, while Larry Kessler poured in 15.

Jefferson Union also won the reserve game, 29-25.

Kentucky Five Wins First Two, Faces New Test This Week

West Virginia Cagers Take Third In Row

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kentucky may not have nearly as good a basketball team as when it won the NCAA championship last spring. Four of the five starting players are gone.

But if Coach Adolph Rupp is short of talent, you can bet he aims to find out soon.

He is used to being surrounded by better-than-average basketball players. Left this season with only talented Johnny Cox from the team that gained a surprise victory in the NCAA tournament last March, he has put together a squad that has won its first two games.

Kentucky thumped Florida State 91-68 in its opener and then outscored Temple, one of last season's toughest rivals, 76-71 in the Philadelphia Palestra Saturday.

This week the Wildcats take on a good Duke team at Durham, N.C., tonight, then return home for games against Southern Methodist Thursday and St. Louis Saturday. The three games should be a real test for Kentucky. SMU clouted Iowa 65-55 last Saturday and St. Louis made Ohio State its second victim 77-68.

These are indeed trying — and traveling — times for the teams like Kentucky that have begun to emerge as possible national powers. West Virginia, rated No. 1 last season in The Associated Press poll but an early loser in the NCAA playoffs, Kansas, Kansas State, Cincinnati, Northwestern, North Carolina State, Tennessee and a few others have been and will be scattering their appearances all over the map. Not until after the Christmas holidays will most of them settle down to serious conference competition.

West Virginia's Mountaineers, who have managed to keep Coach Fred Schaus jittery while winning three games, the latest a 78-63 decision over Penn State, take on The Citadel, Duke and Virginia. Kansas State, 82-79 overtime winner over Indiana, heads a three-pronged Big Eight invasion of the Pacific Coast. Tennessee, a tournament winner already, faces a rugged Wake Forest team that carried N.C. State to two overtimes before losing 56-52.

Nats Knock Celtics From First Place

By The Associated Press

The Syracuse Nationals took a bow today for bouncing the Boston Celtics out of first place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn.

In a home-and-home weekend series, the Nats whipped the Celtics 101-92 at Boston Saturday and then repeated Sunday night with a 108-104 victory.

As the result, the New York Knickerbockers, who were idle Sunday after losing 99-92 to Detroit Saturday, took over first place by a half-game margin over the Celtics.

Syracuse's two victories moved the Nats into a third place tie in the division with the Philadelphia Warriors.

The Warriors dropped a 107-97 game to the St. Louis Hawks Saturday, then trounced Cincinnati 103-90 in Sunday's televised game. Cincinnati won Saturday, downing Minneapolis 132-128 in three overtimes.

Larry Costello was the big gun in the Nats' Sunday triumph over the Celtics. He went on a final period scoring spree, collecting six points in a space of 50 seconds to break a 94-94 tie. Costello ended with 23 points, one less than teammate Johnny Kerr.

Eighteen straight third period points carried the Warriors to victory over the Royals. Paul Arizin was the game's top point maker with 23.

The new Greenville, S. C., Memorial Auditorium seats 5,481 for basketball. It is being used by Furman this season.

Seven Ohio College Fives Bow To Out-Of-State Foes

By HAL PARIS

Seven Buckeye teams suffered setbacks at the hands of out-of-state opponents Saturday, including Ohio State, still looking for that elusive first triumph.

Only Dayton, Steubenville, Ohio U. and Western Reserve, all expected to win, were able to come away victorious in interstate play.

The top surprise and most important score of the night was Miami's 59-58 win over highly-touted Bowling Green. The Falcons, pre-season favorite to dethrone Miami from its hold on the Mid-American Conference crown, were colder than the weather hitting only 25 per cent of their shots. Bowling Green's nifty guard, Jim Darrow, led all scorers with 22 points.

A hot-shooting St. Louis team ran away from Ohio State in the second half to hang a 77-68 loss on Coach Fred Taylor's Bucks. Ohio dropped its season opener Wednesday at Pittsburgh.

Dayton had little trouble registering its second win with a 75-43 romp over Ball State. Captain Terry Bockhorn led Flyer scorers with 16.

Ohio U. established a new school scoring record with a whopping 118-69 pasting of Morris Harvey of West Virginia. The Bobcats' old mark was 116 set last year against Western Michigan. Dave Scott chipped in 24 points.

Steubenville ran its victory string to 26 and its home court consecutive successes to 54 with a 78 - 40 win over West Liberty, W. Va.

In probably the longest game of the night, Fenn nipped Kenyon 45-42 in a marathon struggle that went through four overtimes. Dennis Beharman scored the winning layup for the Cleveland school.

One streak was shattered when Westminster came from 10 points back to trim Akron 65-60 and thus end the Zips' string of 14 straight home floor victories.

Kent State dropped two games over the weekend as host to the first Midwestern Invitation Basketball Tourney. Kent lost to Wyoming 76-67 Friday and dropped the consolation tipp to Michigan, 83-55. Tennessee copped the tourney.

Fairmont West Back 'Outstanding' Gridder

CHARLESTON (AP) — Fairmont West halfback Larry Drake was named West Virginia's most outstanding high school football player for 1958 by the committee selecting the Kennedy Award winner.

Drake, who scored 191 points to lead the Polar Bears to 10 consecutive victories, became the 11th back selected for the honor, which likewise is 11 years old.

He will be honored next month in Huntington at the Victory Awards Dinner of the West Virginia Sports Writers Assn.

The Air Force Academy football team may never have giant tackles because entrance restrictions are 6-feet-4 and 216 pounds.

Qualifying Continues At Bowling Tourney

CHICAGO (AP) — A 200-average bowler couldn't even make the semi-finals as the World's Invitational Tournament moved into the final day of qualifying for match play finals in the Chicago Coliseum.

Eddie Lubanski, 28, Detroit, won qualifying laurels as he finished with a total of 5,161 pins for 24 games. This gave him a 19-pin bulge on defending champion Don Carter of St. Louis who is automatically seeded into the finals.

Dick Hoover of Akron, Ohio, the former all-star and two-time Masters champion, finished with 5,130 for third place.

The women's division was paced by defending champion Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., who had a total of 3,439 pins. Mrs. Ladewig, like Carter, is exempt from qualifying.

Mrs. Ladewig's was five pins ahead of the 3,434 shot by Jere Price of Fort Worth, Tex. in the 16-game qualifying trials.

The third woman was national all-star champion Merle Matthews of Long Beach, Calif., with 3,230.

Teams Begin Practice For Bowl Battles

By The Associated Press

The only thing left of the 1958 college football season today is the postseason bowls. The last six diehards wrote finis to the regular schedule Saturday.

The first of the larger bowls is on tap this Saturday when Oklahoma State and Florida State inaugurate the Blue Grass Bowl in Louisville before a national television audience.

The other 10 major bowl combatants finish a brief vacation and return to the practice field today for workouts ranging from one-a-day outdoor drills in full togs to limbering up conditioning inside a gymnasium.

Big Ten champ Iowa begins looking for a way to stop quarterback Joe Kapp of California in the Rose Bowl. Texas Christian Coach Abe Martin has warned his Horned Frogs that they must solve the passing of Richie Mayo if they want to beat Air Force in the Cotton Bow.

Syracuse will work in its gym until it leaves for North Carolina State this weekend to continue drills for the Orange Bowl game against Oklahoma. Excessive snow on the upstate New York campus has brought unrealistic playing conditions.

The University of Hawaii, which opened the regular season on Sept. 13 with a 51-0 loss to Kentucky, finished the campaign on a similar note, losing 47-20 to Utah Saturday.

Boston College belted Holy Cross 26-8 while Miami won only its second in 10 starts with a 2-0 upset of Oregon.

Arizona State (Flagstaff) defeated Gustavus Adolphus 41-12 and will meet Northeast Oklahoma in the Holiday Bowl Dec. 20 in St. Petersburg. The Okies qualified for the NAIA attraction by defeating St. Benedicts of Kansas 19-14.

At Natchitochee, La., Northwest Louisiana State won the Christmas Festival Bowl with an 18-11 victory over Sam Houston State.

Salineville's Cagers Lose

Salineville High School's Indians dropped their second basketball game in as many starts this season when Jefferson Union raced to an early lead and was never headed in triumphing, 60-54, Saturday night at the Jefferson County school.

Coach Dick Jones' Indians lost their first game last week to United, while Jefferson Union opened its season Saturday night.

After an 8-8 tie early in the first quarter, Jefferson Union went on top and had a 16-point margin at one point in the third quarter.

Salineville managed to narrow the gap to only six points in the final period, but didn't have enough time to jump into the lead. Rich Dunlap lead Salineville scoring with 17 points, while Larry Kessler poured in 15.

Glenn Dickinson led the Jefferson Union attack with six field goals and five foul shots for 17 points. Allen chipped in with 13.

Harney Wins In Puerto Rico

In fifth place after three rounds and four strokes off the pace, Harney was viewing the scoreboard Sunday and made the casual observation "I would win if my putts started to drop."

Nearby, Ed Furgol, former U.S. Open champion, quickly needled the 29-year-old Worcester, Mass. pro:

"Why don't you? Your wife needs a mink stole for Christmas. First prize is $4,100. And whenever I think of you Paul, I think of your wife freezing in those cold New England winters."

Then Harney went to work.

But it was his approach shots, not necessarily his putter, that brought victory, although he sank a 10 footer on the final hole for a birdie and the margin of triumph.

Wesley Ellis, third round pacesetter faded to a 75 on the final round and ended up in a tie with Dow Finsterwald for third place at 287. Tommy Bolt and Ernie Vossler were next at 288.

Finsterwald Finishes In 2-Way Tie For Third

DORADO BEACH, Puerto Rico (AP)—Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, and Tequesta, Fla., finished in a two-way tie for third place Sunday in the $30,000 72-hole Dorado Beach invitation golf tournament here.

Finsterwald shot a final round 70 to give him a four-day total of 73-72-72-70 — 287.

Title Clash May Set New Record In Canada

MONTREAL (AP)—The Archie Moore-Yvon Durelle fight Wednesday night for the world light-heavyweight championship may draw more money than Canadians ever have paid to see a boxing match.

Promoter Eddie Quinn says the advance sale has nearly reached the $80,000 mark, already more than the record Montreal gate of $76,000 drawn by middleweight Laurent Dauthuille and Johnny Greco in 1949.

Quinn figures the total will pass the Canadian record of $120,000 grossed in Toronto for the Moore-James J. Parker fight two years ago.

Italy Sweeps Matches To Gain In Davis Cup

MELBOURNE (AP) — Italy made a clean sweep of its Davis Cup tennis interzone semi-final with the Philippines today as Nicola Pietrangeli and Giuseppe Merlo scored victories in the concluding singles matches.

Italy had clinched an interzone final berth against the United States by taking a 3-0 lead in Sunday's doubles victory.

The U.S.-Italy match will be played at Perth Dec. 19-21. The winner then challenges Australia.

Baby-Sitter Faces Charge Of Kidnaping

WASHINGTON (AP)—A woman who left one baby-sitting job to take another — and carried the first child along — was held today on a charge of kidnaping.

The FBI filed the charge Sunday night against Mrs. Dolly Zirk, 20, after she and the missing 10-month-old baby were found at the home of the second employer in suburban Mount Rainier, Md.

The baby, Victoria DeLosh, was unharmed.

Police said Mrs. Zirk, hired last Friday by Victoria's parents as a full-time baby sitter, disappeared from the DeLosh home at noon Saturday, taking Victoria with her.

The FBI said Mrs. Zirk accepted the second baby-sitting job after starting to take care of the DeLosh baby. She told the second employer Victoria was her child and was given permission to take her along, agents said. They added that the second employer knew nothing about the baby's disappearance.

$200,000 Fire Razes Galion Industrial Plant

GALION, Ohio (AP)—Only the walls of Galion's oldest industrial building remain standing, and firemen think the fire that gutted it Sunday began in a transformer.

The two-story brick building has been occupied for almost 22 months by the Starkey Machinery Co., Inc., manufacturer of parts for ceramic industry machines and a type of brick-making machine. Loss is estimated at about $200,000.

Firemen from Galion, Bucyrus and Crestline poured some 300,000 gallons of water into the building and on houses which surround it. They prevented the fire from spreading and brought it under control in about an hour. Floors soaked with oil and paint apparently spread the fire quickly after a transformer on a pole near the building blazed up, firemen said. No injuries were reported.

The building has been used since 1881. Officials said a foundry near the building may be used to continue operations.

Ballistic Rocket Called 'Suitable For Travel'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Wernher von Braun, the Army's top missile scientist, says he regards the ballistic rocket "as a very suitable form of transportation" for people and cargo.

But he says a lot of people — including Army officials — still must be convinced of this.

"We could use missiles that we have right now and fire people with them a couple of hundred miles," Von Braun said.

The missile, he said, should not be regarded only as an artillery weapon, but as a means of delivery that may deliver not only bombs but also people or cargo.

2 U.S. Army Privates Killed As Jeep Wrecks

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Two U.S. Army privates were killed in a jeep accident Saturday near Gelnhause, Germany, the Army announced today. Their jeep ran off an icy road into an embankment during a training exercise.

They were identified as Pfc. Thomas L. Thrush, 22, and Pfc. Robert S. Terra, 23. Thrush is survived by his father, Walter E. Thrush of (Route 1), Lancaster, Ohio, and Terra by his father, Frank Terra, of Bridgewater, Mass.

Slashes Self, Children

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Seven-year-old Terry Lynn Meyer and his brother, Timothy, 2, were hospitalized today for severed wrist tendons, and their mother, Mrs. Pearl Meyer, 28, was held in county jail for cutting them with a kitchen knife. Sheriff's Deputy Joseph Becker Jr. said the mother told him she slashed her wrists and those of her four children while they slept early Sunday because she was despondent about her home life. Her wounds and those of the other two children, Ernest, 3, and Sherry Sue, 5, did not require hospital admission.

Missouri Investigates Death Of 3 Truckers In Bunkhouse

LANCASTER, Mo. (AP)—Three truck drivers, weary from the long drive from central Arkansas to this north Missouri village, went to sleep in a truck stop bunkhouse. All three of them died there.

Why? At this stage, no one knows.

Coroner Bryce Norman said the first victim apparently died of a heart attack. Autopsies on the bodies of the other two were inconclusive. Tissue samples will be tested by state police.

The chain of death began Friday, when 24-year-old Louis Lee Warden of Little Rock pulled into Lancaster with a truckload of farm tractors from Malvern, Ark. It was 1 a.m. and he had covered more than 600 miles.

Warden said he was ill and went to bed in the bunkhouse which Ed Judd maintains at his service station-restaurant on U.S. Highway 63. Late that afternoon, Warden was found dead.

He suffered from a heart ailment. His death was attributed to the disease and his body was sent back to Little Rock.

Warden's employer D. Hoskins of Malvern sent two drivers north with a load of lumber. They were John Parker, 26, Little Rock, and William Briner, 22, Malvern. One was to drive Warden's truck back to Malvern.

They went to bed about 1 a.m. Sunday. At 7 a.m., both men were found dead.

Coroner Norman said the 18-by-24-foot bunkhouse was heated by a stove which burns bottled gas. He has asked for a state inspection to determine if the heater is releasing lethal fumes.

Man Accused In Car Death Of His Wife

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — A 25-year-old carpenter has been accused of releasing the hand brake on his car and letting the car roll over his wife, killing her.

At first, the death of Janet Rowles, 24, last Oct. 12 was listed as an accident. Later police reopened the investigation. Over the weekend her husband, James R. Rowles, was arraigned on a charge of murder.

State police said Rowles told them he was out for a drive with his wife and their 10-month-old daughter, Suzy. He stopped on a grade to fix a tire and his wife walked around to the rear of the car. He released the handbrake and the car rolled backward down the grade, crushing his wife.

Pesky Red Wings Stay On Heels Of Red-Hot Montreal

By The Associated Press

The pace-setting Montreal Canadiens clutched a six-game unbeaten string today in the National Hockey League but still saw the pesky Detroit Red Wings as a strong challenger.

Ironically, the Wings haven't beaten the high-flying Canadiens all season but their consistent success against other NHL clubs left Detroit only four points from the top rung.

Only two weeks ago, the Wings had a brief stay in the top spot before the surging Canadiens bumped them twice. Since, the Wings rebounded for two victories and a tie to climb back into contention.

Detroit won one and tied one against the Chicago Blackhawks over the weekend, marking up a 4-3 victory Saturday and pulling out a 2-2 tie in the last 10 seconds Sunday night.

Montreal blanked the New York Rangers 6-0 Saturday and whipped Boston 4-1 Sunday. Toronto gave the Bruins a 4-1 licking Saturday and followed with a 2-0 victory over New York Sunday night.

In the Detroit game, Glenn Hall, the Chicago netminder, stopped 38 shots by his former mates. He was defending against six men, after Detroit Coach Sid Abel had yanked goalie Terry Sawchuk, when Alex Delvecchio slammed in the tying goal.

Temple Bombing Jury Renews Deliberations

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A Fulton Superior Court jury today resumed deliberating the case of George Bright, first of five persons to be tried on charges of bombing an Atlanta Jewish Temple.

Court reconvenes after a Saturday midnight recess. The case went to the jury about 11 p.m. Saturday and when no verdict was reached by midnight Judge Durwood Pye ordered the jurors taken to a hotel. Georgia law prohibits deliberations or verdicts on Sunday.

The five Atlanta area men were indicted on charges of dynamiting The Temple in Atlanta Oct. 12. The others, slated for trial later, are Wallace H. Allen, Kenneth Chester Griffin, Robert Bowling and Richard Bowling.

Pye told the jury it could return a verdict of guilty, in which case the sentence would be death, or recommend mercy, which would mean a life term, or acquit the 31-year-old engineer.

Two Holdup Men Flee At 'Customer' Warning

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Two men, one pointing a pistol, entered a restaurant last night and demanded money.

The men bolted.

Providence, R. I., received its name from Roger Williams who said the city was founded "in commemoration of God's merciful providence."

Yule Warning Issued On Counterfeit Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Christmas shopping season has brought a larger than usual increase in counterfeit money this year.

The Secret Service, cautioning busy merchants to take time to check the money they handle, said eight new issues of bogus bills were uncovered during the last week. There have been 132 issues found since July 1, most of them rounded up before they got into circulation.

U. E. Baughman, chief of the Secret Service, said counterfeiting normally rises during the Christmas rush, but reported the practice has been rising for the last 18 months.

Harney Wins In Puerto Rico

In fifth place after three rounds and four strokes off the pace, Harney was viewing the scoreboard Sunday and made the casual observation "I would win if my putts started to drop."

Nearby, Ed Furgol, former U.S. Open champion, quickly needled the 29-year-old Worcester, Mass. pro:

"Why don't you? Your wife needs a mink stole for Christmas. First prize is $4,100. And whenever I think of you Paul, I think of your wife freezing in those cold New England winters."

"Not a bad idea," said Harney. "How much do they cost."

Then Harney went to work.

The former Holy Cross golf captain carved a four-under-par 68 for a winning 72-hole score of 284 and a one stroke margin over Ted Kroll.

But it was his approach shots, not necessarily his putter, that brought victory, although he sank a 10 footer on the final hole for a birdie and the margin of triumph.

Wesley Ellis, third round pacesetter faded to a 75 on the final round and ended up in a tie with Dow Finsterwald for third place at 287. Tommy Bolt and Ernie Vossler were next at 288.

Finsterwald Finishes In 2-Way Tie For Third

DORADO BEACH, Puerto Rico (AP)—Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, and Tequesta, Fla., finished in a two-way tie for third place Sunday in the $30,000 72-hole Dorado Beach invitation golf tournament here.

Finsterwald shot a final round 70 to give him a four-day total of 73-72-72-70 — 287.

Title Clash May Set New Record In Canada

MONTREAL (AP)—The Archie Moore-Yvon Durelle fight Wednesday night for the world light-heavyweight championship may draw more money than Canadians ever have paid to see a boxing match.

Promoter Eddie Quinn says the advance sale has nearly reached the $80,000 mark, already more than the record Montreal gate of $76,000 drawn by middleweight Laurent Dauthuille and Johnny Greco in 1949.

Quinn figures the total will pass the Canadian record of $120,000 grossed in Toronto for the Moore-James J. Parker fight two years ago.

Baby-Sitter Faces Charge Of Kidnaping

WASHINGTON (AP)—A woman who left one baby-sitting job to take another — and carried the first child along — was held today on a charge of kidnaping.

The FBI filed the charge Sunday night against Mrs. Dolly Zirk, 20, after she and the missing 10-month-old baby were found at the home of the second employer in suburban Mount Rainier, Md.

The baby, Victoria DeLosh, was unharmed.

Mrs. Zirk was identified as a former mental patient and herself the mother of a 10-month-old child now in her husband's custody.

Police said Mrs. Zirk, hired last Friday by Victoria's parents as a full-time baby sitter, disappeared from the DeLosh home at noon Saturday, taking Victoria with her.

The FBI said Mrs. Zirk accepted the second baby-sitting job after starting to take care of the DeLosh baby. She told the second employer Victoria was her child and was given permission to take her along, agents said. They added that the second employer knew nothing about the baby's disappearance.

$200,000 Fire Razes Galion Industrial Plant

GALION, Ohio (AP)—Only the walls of Galion's oldest industrial building remain standing, and firemen think the fire that gutted it Sunday began in a transformer.

The two-story brick building has been occupied for almost 22 months by the Starkey Machinery Co., Inc., manufacturer of parts for ceramic industry machines and a type of brick-making machine. Loss is estimated at about $200,000.

Firemen from Galion, Bucyrus and Crestline poured some 300,000 gallons of water into the building and on houses which surround it. They prevented the fire from spreading and brought it under control in about an hour. Floors soaked with oil and paint apparently spread the fire quickly after a transformer on a pole near the building blazed up, firemen said. No injuries were reported.

The building has been used since 1881. Officials said a foundry near the building may be used to continue operations.

Ballistic Rocket Called 'Suitable For Travel'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Wernher von Braun, the Army's top missile scientist, says he regards the ballistic rocket "as a very suitable form of transportation" for people and cargo.

But he says a lot of people — including Army officials — still must be convinced of this.

"We could use missiles that we have right now and fire people with them a couple of hundred miles," Von Braun said.

The missile, he said, should not be regarded only as an artillery weapon, but as a means of delivery that may deliver not only bombs but also people or cargo.

2 U.S. Army Privates Killed As Jeep Wrecks

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Two U.S. Army privates were killed in a jeep accident Saturday near Gelnhause, Germany, the Army announced today. Their jeep ran off an icy road into an embankment during a training exercise.

They were identified as Pfc. Thomas L. Thrush, 22, and Pfc. Robert S. Terra, 23. Thrush is survived by his father, Walter E. Thrush of (Route 1), Lancaster, Ohio, and Terra by his father, Frank Terra, of Bridgewater, Mass.

Slashes Self, Children

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Seven-year-old Terry Lynn Meyer and his brother, Timothy, 2, were hospitalized today for severed wrist tendons, and their mother, Mrs. Pearl Meyer, 28, was held in county jail for cutting them with a kitchen knife. Sheriff's Deputy Joseph Becker Jr. said the mother told him she slashed her wrists and those of her four children while they slept early Sunday because she was despondent about her home life. Her wounds and those of the other two children, Ernest, 3, and Sherry Sue, 5, did not require hospital admission.

Missouri Investigates Death Of 3 Truckers In Bunkhouse

LANCASTER, Mo. (AP)—Three truck drivers, weary from the long drive from central Arkansas to this north Missouri village, went to sleep in a truck stop bunkhouse. All three of them died there.

Why? At this stage, no one knows.

Coroner Bryce Norman said the first victim apparently died of a heart attack. Autopsies on the bodies of the other two were inconclusive. Tissue samples will be tested by state police.

The chain of death began Friday, when 24-year-old Louis Lee Warden of Little Rock pulled into Lancaster with a truckload of farm tractors from Malvern, Ark. It was 1 a.m. and he had covered more than 600 miles.

Warden said he was ill and went to bed in the bunkhouse which Ed Judd maintains at his service station-restaurant on U.S. Highway 63. Late that afternoon, Warden was found dead.

He suffered from a heart ailment. His death was attributed to the disease and his body was sent back to Little Rock.

Warden's employer D. Hoskins of Malvern sent two drivers north with a load of lumber. They were John Parker, 26, Little Rock, and William Briner, 22, Malvern. One was to drive Warden's truck back to Malvern.

They went to bed about 1 a.m. Sunday. At 7 a.m., both men were found dead.

Coroner Norman said the 18-by-24-foot bunkhouse was heated by a stove which burns bottled gas. He has asked for a state inspection to determine if the heater is releasing lethal fumes.

Man Accused In Car Death Of His Wife

At first, the death of Janet Rowles, 24, last Oct. 12 was listed as an accident. Later police reopened the investigation. Over the weekend her husband, James R. Rowles, was arraigned on a charge of murder.

Authorities said Rowles remarried on Nov. 29, but his new wife, Faye, apparently knew nothing of the circumstances surrounding Janet's death.

State police said Rowles told them he was out for a drive with his wife and their 10-month-old daughter, Suzy. He stopped on a grade to fix a tire and his wife walked around to the rear of the car. He released the handbrake and the car rolled backward down the grade, crushing his wife.

Pesky Red Wings Stay On Heels Of Red-Hot Montreal

By The Associated Press

The pace-setting Montreal Canadiens clutched a six-game unbeaten string today in the National Hockey League but still saw the pesky Detroit Red Wings as a strong challenger.

Ironically, the Wings haven't beaten the high-flying Canadiens all season but their consistent success against other NHL clubs left Detroit only four points from the top rung.

Only two weeks ago, the Wings had a brief stay in the top spot before the surging Canadiens bumped them twice. Since, the Wings rebounded for two victories and a tie to climb back into contention.

Detroit won one and tied one against the Chicago Blackhawks over the weekend, marking up a 4-3 victory Saturday and pulling out a 2-2 tie in the last 10 seconds Sunday night.

Montreal blanked the New York Rangers 6-0 Saturday and whipped Boston 4-1 Sunday. Toronto gave the Bruins a 4-1 licking Saturday and followed with a 2-0 victory over New York Sunday night.

In the Detroit game, Glenn Hall, the Chicago netminder, stopped 38 shots by his former mates. He was defending against six men, after Detroit Coach Sid Abel had yanked goalie Terry Sawchuk, when Alex Delvecchio slammed in the tying goal.

Temple Bombing Jury Renews Deliberations

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A Fulton Superior Court jury today resumed deliberating the case of George Bright, first of five persons to be tried on charges of bombing an Atlanta Jewish Temple.

Court reconvenes after a Saturday midnight recess. The case went to the jury about 11 p.m. Saturday and when no verdict was reached by midnight Judge Durwood Pye ordered the jurors taken to a hotel. Georgia law prohibits deliberations or verdicts on Sunday.

The five Atlanta area men were indicted on charges of dynamiting The Temple in Atlanta Oct. 12. The others, slated for trial later, are Wallace H. Allen, Kenneth Chester Griffin, Robert Bowling and Richard Bowling.

Pye told the jury it could return a verdict of guilty, in which case the sentence would be death, or recommend mercy, which would mean a life term, or acquit the 31-year-old engineer.

Two Holdup Men Flee At 'Customer' Warning

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Two men, one pointing a pistol, entered a restaurant last night and demanded money.

"You fellows better get out because here comes a customer," said waitress Josephine Plummer, who really saw only a passing pedestrian.

The men bolted.

Providence, R. I., received its name from Roger Williams who said the city was founded "in commemoration of God's merciful providence."

Yule Warning Issued On Counterfeit Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Christmas shopping season has brought a larger than usual increase in counterfeit money this year.

The Secret Service, cautioning busy merchants to take time to check the money they handle, said eight new issues of bogus bills were uncovered during the last week. There have been 132 issues found since July 1, most of them rounded up before they got into circulation.

U. E. Baughman, chief of the Secret Service, said counterfeiting normally rises during the Christmas rush, but reported the practice has been rising for the last 18 months.

Diet Challengers Report Progress

Challengers, gather round. From the reports streaming in, it appears the challenge idea has added that certain something to your slimming program which keeps you on the beam. Wonderful! Regard reducing as an exciting challenge and gone is the boredom and the resistance to diet. Tune in and find out how some of our other challengers are faring.

Ida Jean Kain

First, a report from a dieter in the group that has the longest row to hoe, the 100 - Pounds - Off challengers. A Philadelphian writes:

"This past month I have reduced 6¼ pounds, which means I now weigh in at 171 pounds. This brings my score to 47 pounds off since I started my protective diet in March. I guess I have set the pattern and I'll be satisfied to lose at the rate of 6 pounds a month. My husband and teen-age son are proud of my progress — and this serves as an added spur.

"NO TRUER words were ever printed than those in your column saying, 'It's easy to reduce if you have a real desire to do so; next to impossible otherwise.' How well I know!"

A challenger from Wisconsin who had 50 pounds to lose reports: "I am doing fine, I think. So far I have lost almost 14 pounds and feel so much better. Your diet really does the trick. What a joy to diet and not feel hungry. This time I know I'll succeed."

Cheers! A member of the 20-Pounds-Off group has reached her goal. She writes: "Happy day! I've reached my goal of 109 pounds from a starting point of 130. Since I have a small frame and am only 5' 1" tall, 130 pounds was a load for me to carry around, and I was tired most of the time.

"Now I have much more energy and can honestly say that I feel better than I did ten years ago. It sure is a wonderful feeling to wear the clothes I once had to put away, and also to make the large ones smaller. Here's wishing success to all other women who really want to reduce."

A spunky, determined teen-age challenger reports: "At the beginning of summer I weighed 125, which was too much for my 5 foot frame. I now weigh 115, and my skirt size has come down from 26 to 24. Girls who are fat don't know how much fun they are missing!"

OVERWEIGHTS, you ask how to join the challengers' group with your weight handicap, whether it be 20, 40 or 100 pounds to be lost.

Here's the way to join: If you are an adult, send for the "Hunger Control Diet." Overweight teen-agers, send for "Teen-Age Challenge."

Be sure to enclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope with your request. The day you start the diet, consider yourself a challenger. Report your progress or your problems if you wish to do so. Reports from challengers will appear regularly in the column.

DOUBLE TRACTOR PULL WITH ALL-WEATHER

SNAP-TRAC

ON EITHER NEW OR OLD TIRES

SNAP-TRACS will outpull any traction device on the market — double drawbar pull — provide four times the traction of brand-new tires — and do it without wheel weights or tire fluid in most conditions. With SNAP-TRACS, farmers can spread manure before it leaches away — in any weather—through mud, ice, snow, slush, sand or gumbo. Soft, mushy ground can't delay corn picking or forage harvesting . . . SNAP-TRACS are year-around equipment because they eliminate tread-wearing ground slippage to actually triple tire life and do not interfere with normal road speeds.

SNAP-TRACS DOUBLES

YOUR TRACTION IN OFF-THE-ROAD WORK FOR TRUCKS TOO

You can count on SNAP-TRACS to maintain your work schedules in any weather if there is any footing at all. You can count on more productive hours from your expensive equipment. SNAP-TRACS usually will stall the truck before the wheels spin.

PRICED FROM $122.00
